Landlords, Tenants in Rental Fog

The landlord-tenant situation in the Greater Boston area today reflected increasing confusion over the new rent control law signed Monday by President Truman, as local rent control officials were besieged with requests for clarification of its terms.

Most of the larger hotels planned to increase their room rates by 15 per cent, with both transient and permanent guests being affected.

Four hotels of the Sheraton chain—the Copley Plaza, Sheraton, Myles Standish and Beaconsfield—already have announced the increase.

Apartment house dwellers in this district will receive by mail today or tomorrow letters from their landlords urging them to "insure" their tenancy for the next year or more by agreeing to a 15 per cent rent increase.

Against the advice of officials, hundreds of tenants were reported to have paid rent increases without compelling their landlords to issue them leases until Dec. 31, 1948. Officials warned that such violations merit punishment.

Area rent director Edgar J. Driscoll explained that 1600 eviction cases pending in eastern Massachusetts must be started all over again in the state courts.

He also pointed out that copies of any leases signed with a 15 per cent increase must be filed with the local rent control office. Refusal to agree to an increase is not grounds for eviction, he said.

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Angry Republican demands that President Truman produce evidence that real estate lobbyists influenced Congress' rent control action exploded a new political battle today between the White House and GOP lawmakers.

Calling on the President to order prosecution of any lobbyists he considers guilty of "subversive" activities, Sen. Wherry of Nebraska, Republican whip, said that if Mr. Truman has no concrete evidence to back up his charges "he ought to apologize to Congress."

In his message to Congress when he signed the rent control bill Monday, Mr. Truman said the "real estate lobby" had "displayed a ruthless disregard of the public welfare" by attempting to "weaken rent control and do away with necessary aid to housing."

Permanent residents in many hotels throughout the nation have received notices their rents are to be increased—ranging upward from 15 per cent.

Although a boost of 15 per cent was the most frequently reported as the hotels were freed from controls under the new federal rent law there were instances of rent increases as much as from 25 to 165 per cent.

There also were reported isolated cases of extreme hikes—of 300 per cent for a resident of a Denver tourist camp, and 200 per cent at a St. Louis hotel. New York City reported boosts of up to 50 per cent were fairly common and one hostelry raised rates 125 per cent.

State Legislators Go Home After Setting Cost Record

The most lavish Legislature in Massachusetts history stood prorogued today until January, after sending to Gov. Bradford a $7,416,169 supplementary budget which brought the total appropriated for the prese nt fiscal year to nearly $200,000,000.

Three-year - old Gerald Green, Jr., of Los Angeles, smiles at his mother after he was brought back from the dead. The child swallowed a crayon and was turning black from asphyxiation when rushed to a hospital. En route he stopped breathing and was pronounced dead, but at hospital he was put under oxygen tent and given artificial respiration and in an hour and a half began to breath again.

Attached to the supplementary money bill was an order authorizing the transfer of $50,560,000 to cities and towns of the Commonwealth from revenue the state will receive from income, corporation and meal taxes.

Earlier in the 155th legislative session the balance of the state budget, now totalling $198,906,000, was appropriated and approved by the governor.

The appropriations included $77,575,000 for the General Fund, $36,459,000 for highways, $4,705,000 for veterans' services, $22,773,000 for old age asistance, $4,954,000 for the Metropolitan District Commission and $1,877,000 for miscellaneous accounts.

The Senate refused to take action on the highly controversial $25,000,000 bond issue to provide veterans' housing, thus defeating the bill for this year.

Prorogation was delayed for several hours when Sen. Edward M. Rowe of Cambridge refused to yield to the pressure of House members and veterans' leaders to take the housing bill from the table. Rowe had earlier moved to table the bill.

A delegation of representatives, headed by Robert F. Murphy and James A. Burke, augmented by 40 veterans, marched to the Senate chamber shortly before prorogation and demanded that Rowe take the bill from the table. He refused. Legislative courtesy requires a bill to be taken from the table only by the legislator who moved it there.

Boston's city charter will not be changed this year. The legislators killed the bill to replace the present City Council of 22 members with a council of 9 elected at large.

Also rejected was the governor's state rent control bill.

Earlier in the session, a coalition of rebellious Republican senators, joining with Democrats, upset two important bills advocated by the GOP leaders.

They overrode the veto of Gov. Bradford on a bill to grant district attorneys and their assistants a 20 per cent salary increase, and then killed a Republican-sponsored shuffle of the senatorial districts.

The six Republicans, Callahan of Salem, Healey of Rowley, Lerche of Northampton, Miles of Brockton, Rowe of Cambridge and Staves of Southbridge, joined the Democrats in defeating the redistricting bill which would have spelled certain defeat for many of the Democratic senators next election.

The Senate, later, however, approved an order for $3500 for a second recess commission study of redistricting.

Pilot Also Sees 'Flying Saucers'

PORTLAND, Me., July 2 (AP)—The report of a long-time West Coast pilot was added today to the growing accounts of "flying saucers" over the West.

Richard Rankin, veteran of more than 7000 hours in the air, said he saw the much-discussed mystery disks high over Bakersfield, Cal., and going "maybe 300 or 400 miles an hour."

There were ten in formation flying north, he told a reporter, but when "they returned on the reverse course, headed south, there were only seven."

New reports meanwhile came in from three Oregon cities, Astoria, Madras and Portland. The Portlanders, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Balliet, said they disbelieved stories about the "saucers" until they saw at least ten of them winging noiselessly high over the Columbia river yesterday.

BREAD UP, ITALY RIOTS

NAPLES, July 2 (AP)—A government increase in the bread price yesterday provoked demonstrations in Naples which continued far into the night. Unrest was still in evidence today.

Mindoro Governor Held as Hostage

MANILA, July 2 (AP) — A heavily armed group of escaped prisoners captured Valapan, the capital of Mindoro Island last night, taking the island's governor and two city officials as hostages, and still were in control today although their leader was killed in a 40-minute gun fight with military police.

Military police reported regaining control of the airport at noon today.

There was no indication of the fate of Gov. Morente, reported taken to a hideout.

Mrs. Comerford Rites Held in Framingham

Mrs. Mary McLoughlin Comerford, Salem End rd., Framingham Center, widow of Frank D. Comerford, was laid to rest today in St. John's Cemetery, Worcester.

A solemn high requiem mass was celebrated in St. Bridget's Church, Framingham, by the Very Rev. John J. McElaney, provincial of the Jesuit Order. Pall bearers were Dr. Martin J. English, Rep. Philip P. Philbin, James V. Toner, James M. Hoy, Carl S. Herrmann, Bernard W. Doyle, John R. Macomber and Hugh Nawn.

Lewis Victory In Coal Dispute Believed Near

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

WASHINGTON, July 2 (INS)—John L. Lewis apparently held the whip hand today in his efforts to force the soft coal industry to grant in full his 1947 contract demands.

The UMW president reportedly is near achievement of this goal.

The big break came last week when U. S. Steel and Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., representing one-sixth of the nation's bituminous tonnage, agreed to meet Lewis' wage-hour demand equivalent to a 35-cents-an-hour pay boost.

Other members of the northern and western operators negotiating committee, representing commercial producers, reportedly had no alternative except to go along with the offer to pay the miners $13.05 for an eight-hour portal-to-portal day.

The agreement on the wage-hour issue was only the first step, however, in the negotiation of a new private contract to replace the government-union pact which expired Monday.

Lewis and the mine owners now are bargaining over collateral issues, such as the miners' health and welfare fund, the safety code and other points.

Steel Industry Fears Coal Crisis Disaster

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—The steel industry will be flat on its back within three weeks unless a satisfactory coal contract is negotiated soon, The Iron Age said today.

Already, the publication said, steel consumers are suffering the most serious setback since April, 1946, as the result of the coal mine shutdown as steel deliveries were taking on a normal aspect.

Frau Wagner Gets 450-Day Sentence

BAYREUTH, Germany, July 2 (AP)—Frau Winifred Wagner, daughter-in-law of the musician, Richard Wagner, was sentenced today to 450 days of special labor service following her conviction on charges of actively supporting the Hitler regime.

Sentence was imposed on the 50-year-old English born defendant by a German Denazification court, which also ordered confiscation of 60 per cent of her personal wealth, estimated at 230,000 marks ($23,000).

The prosecution had urged she be sentenced to six years in a labor camp. Her lawyer, however, stressed the testimony of witnesses who testified she helped them escape Nazi imprisonment.

Mother Depicts Triangle Killing

Bedridden with arthritis, the invalid mother of Hollis C. Tupper, 36-year-old laundry truck driver charged with the knife murders of his girl friend and his wife early this morning, today re-enacted one of the killings for police in the presence of her son. Dazed, incoherent, and claiming to know nothing about the stab deaths of his wife, Mrs. Catherine Frances Tupper, 38, and his girl friend, Miss Helen Kaminski, 33, of Beacon st., Brookline, a nurse at Lahey Clinic, Tupper stood at the foot of his mother's bed in King st., Dorchester, scene of one of the crimes.

SOUGHT BY POLICE — Film Actress Madge Meredith, 26, is being sought by police today for questioning in connection with the blackjacking of her former manager. The manager, Nicholas Gianaclis, told police that Madge acted as "bait" for two men who beat him up.

His mother, Mrs. Charles A. Tupper, told detectives:

"I was in bed reading, like this. My son and Helen were on the porch. They were talking quietly. Then I heard screams. Helen ran into my room. My son was chasing her. She ran to my bed. I tried to help her. She fell on the floor. He was bending over her. He had a knife in his hand."

Tupper stood unmoved by his mother's statement. The truck driver, who once was an assistant manager of Keith's Boston Theater, and who was remembered by many of his police questioners as a star pitcher for St. Mark's baseball team, steadfastly maintained he remembered nothing since six o'clock last night when he went for a swim at Savin Hill beach.

His mother's tearful, dramatic account of Helen Kaminski's death apparently did not refresh the memory of the man accused of two killings. He watched and listened to her story without show of emotion.

A helpless cripple, Mrs. Tupper told investigators that when Helen first ran into the room, she thought that perhaps she was fooling. Even when she saw her son with the knife, Mrs. Tupper said, she believed it was some sort of jest.

"But then I saw blood," the mother said. "Helen had fallen to the floor. I threw myself out trying to shield her."

Tupper's mother was a witness to the death of Helen Kaminski, a tall striking brunette whom Tupper admitted he wanted to marry. But there were no witnesses to the slaying of the suspects wife, Catherine, mothe of a daughte, Susan, 13, whose body was found in a pool of blood in he home in Talbot ave. The two crimes were committed in homes a mile apart. Carving knives, with blades 15 inches long, were used in both killings.

Susan Tupper was not at home when her mother was slain. Early in the evening she had received permission to spend the night at the home of a girl chum. The child was sleeping at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. James Hennessey at the time, only a few doors away in Talbot ave.

High police officials said Tupper was enraged over his wife's refusal to grant him a divorce and was fearful of losing a girl friend unless he obtained one.

The investigation of the double murder was headed by Deputy Supt. James Sheehan, aided by Lt. Joseph Fallon of the Homicide Squad, Capt. Justin McCarthy of the Fields cor., station, and Lt. Chester A. Hinchey of the special services squad.

Lt. Fallon gave this account of the double tragedy:

Tupper quit work at 5 o'clock last night and went to his mother's home in King st., and had supper. At home were his mother, and a cousin, Mrs. Mary Tavenner, 55, of Cathedral ave., Washington, D. C., here on a vacation.

After eating, Tupper donned swimming trunks and went to the beach at Savin Hill. When he returned home Helen Kaminski was there. Police said she maintained a room in Beacon st., Brookline, but frequently stayed overnight at the Tupper home to care for the crippled Mrs. Tupper.

About 10 o'clock, Helen and Tupper went for a walk. Mrs. Tupper retired for the night. Tupper and the nurse on their return went out on the veranda. They talked quietly for a while. Then Tupper was heard to say that he had asked his estranged wife for a divorce and that she had refused to give it to him on the advice of her parish priest. Helen, according to police, asked:

"D you think I am going to hang around forever waiting."

Mrs. Tupper then heard Helen's screams and later described the death scene.

Tupper then raced from the house and went to his wife's home in Talbot ave. It was here that police later found his wife's body. She had been hacked in the breast and abdomen. A knife was under her body.

Hollis, police said, then ran to Codman sq., where he met Carl S, Aspacher, of Calendar st., a friend, who operates a taxicab service. He asked for a ride and Aspacher called another cabbie, Robert Richard.

"Take me out of here quick. I'm in a jam," Roberts said Tupper told him..

The cab driver said he let Tupper out in Warren st., Roxbury. About an hour later he was located by police in the Dorchester restaurant.

"Don't tell my mother I'm drunk," he muttered to Lt. Chester A. Henchey and Patrolman John Doherty, both of the Fields

The weatherman was an all-around good fellow today.

The shot he called had finally hit the mark. Generous masses of dry air from the West swept gently into Ned England overnight, dropping the humidity to a more reasonable level.

Before noon, the temperature was at 69 and on its way to a probable high of 80. But the humidity stood at 59 per cent, 31 points lower than the same time yeesterday. And the outlook was bright for a clear, cool night and a pleasant summer's day tomorrow.

Mrs. Boston Shops for 4th Salmon, Peas

Greater Boston housewives began faring forth today on their annual salmon-buying parade for the Fourth of July menu, finding ample stocks of western and Canadian fish at prices ranging from 55 cents a pound to 79 cents, according to the cut.

Peas to go along with the traditional salmon were chain-store priced at 19 cents a pound.

Just why the housewives annually gravitate to to the salmon counters for July 4 dinners, is a mystery to most fish dealers—and probably to the housewives themselves—but Edward H. Cooley of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries Co. came up with a theory today.

Cooley, former executive vice-president of the Massachusetts Fisheries Ass'n, said:

"I think it isn't a case of salmon and peas but of peas and salmon. Farmers and gardeners always strive to have peas grown by July 4. Naturally the housewives want fresh peaas as soon as they are available. Then they want a creamed dish to go along with the peas. Inasmuch as the salmon dutifully make themselves available in large quantities at the same period, salmon are the obvious choice.

"Out in Ohio they carry it further, planting their potatoes on St. Patrick's Day for harvesting just before July 4. Then they cream the potatoes with the peas. Then they buy the salmon. It took me a long time to get this theory together but I haven't heard of a better one, so I'll stick to it until I do."

Chain stores were selling and cuts of salmon for 59 cents and center cuts for 63. One large Roxbury market had some cuts for sale at 55 cents but a downtown market was asking 79 cents for its best cuts.

Salmon from the West Coast and the eastern Canadian provinces were both wholesaling at 42 cents a pound.

Beulah, Gollum Jubilant At Yacht Blast Evidence

SANTA ANA, Cal., July 2—The defense and two young defendants maintained visible jubilance today as the state strove desperately to introduce telling medical evidence in the trial of Beulah Louise Overell, 18, and George Gollum, 21, charged with murdering the former's parents.

So pleased was young Gollum at the turn of earlier medical testimony that he almost shouted to Miss Overell, the girl he is engaged to wed, "We've got 'em. We're going to win. I love you, my darling."

One of the last medical experts to testify, Dr. Eustace L. Benjamin, testified that Walter E. Overell was killed by "a blunt instrument" and that both Overell and his wife died as a result of "multiple injuries of the head."

Prosecutor Eugene Williams asked him:

"From an examination of the wounds of Mr. Overell's left temple, what do you believe caused death?"

Dr. Benjamin replied:

"Whatever struck there was round and was hollow in the middle—a blunt instrument."

Dr. Benjamin, San Bernardino County Hospital pathologist and formerly a prominent Chicago autopsy surgeon, was the third medical expert to be called by the prosecution in its effort to prove the Overells were bludgeoned to death before a dynamite blast sank their yacht.

He took the stand after the testimony of another medical expert had suffered at the hands of relentless defense questioning.

Williams asked Dr. Benjamin about injuries on Overell's thigh and hip.

"In your opinion, when did these occur?" the prosecutor inquired.

"They occurred after death."

"What is your reason for that statement?"

"Because there were no hemorrhages around the ruptures of his lower extremities," Dr. Benjamin replied. "Therefore my opinion is that the injuries to his head caused death because of the presence of hemorrhages."

Earlier gruesome mementoes of the March 15 night when the Overells died aboard their blasted yacht were shown to the jury.

Exhibited were splinters taken from the financier's body and a small screwdriver found embedded in the head of Mrs. Overell.

Probe of French Revolt Plot Widens

PARIS, July 2 (INS)—Investigation of the "Black Maquis" plot aimed at overthrow of the French Republic and establishment of a "Napoleonic dictatorship" quickened throughout the country today.

Political ramifications of the affair widened by the hour and a full parliamentary probe was demanded by the Communists.

Much interest centered around a widespread search for a daring young nobleman charged with complicity following the arrest of a stockbroker and the arrival in Paris under guard of a Brittany priest whose home was said to have served as an arms depot for the conspirators.

Hear Defense Array at Cop Graft Trial

An imposing array of character witnesses paraded to the stand in Middlesex Superior Court today in defense of John J. Dukeshire and Richard D. Fiedler, rookie Lowell policemen, who are charged with accepting bribes from gamblers in that city.

Included in the group were other members of the so-called Fearless Six, a group of Lowell policemen who took matters into their own hands and carried out unannounced raids throughout the city.

On the stand in his own defense, Dukeshire testified he had raided the poolroom of Francis Hebert three times and had spurned an alleged offer of a suit of clothes "to lay off." He said Hebert later tried to placate him by offering to "turn in" a number of places in Lowell where gambling was going on.

Last Feb. 5, Dukeshire said, he and Fiedler went to Hebert's home to get more "information" and were offered a glass of beer. He said he refused but Fiedler accepted. Hebert handed Fiedler three envelopes with the beer, saying "Open them," he testified.

When Fiedler opened them and discovered they contained $10 bills he threw them from him, he said.

A moment later, he said, three Lowell lieutenants pounced on them with drawn guns, scooped up the money and shouted "Now, we've got you."

He said they were taken to the police station after one of the lieutenants repeated to him that "We've got you now for grabbing off some of our friends."

Defense Atty. Herbert F. Callahan in his opening for the officers told the court the men became involved only after they had aroused the ire of their superiors by their unrelenting war on gamblers.

Three Shot to Death On Kentucky Farm

LEITCHFIELD, Ky., July 2 (AP)—Sheriff Preston Cannon and Coroner C. W. Watkins today were faced with a mysterious triple killing at nearby Tousy and believed all three were murdered.

The bodies of Walter C. Young, 52, his daughter, Mrs. Mildred Patterson, 19, and her husband, Wavie Patterson, 24, were found in the yard of the Patterson home. They had been shot to death.

On a porch was a purported suicide note, reading:

"I shot my wife and her dad. He made a pass at me. Life is not worth living."

Officers declared, however, that any one of them could have killed the others and then shot himself.

The officails were told Mr. and Mrs. Patterson had domestic trouble and that Mrs. Patterson left her husband Monday, taking their 3-months-old son, Edwin, to the home of her parents.

Yesterday, Mrs. Patterson and her father returned to the Patterson home so she could get some clothing. They did not return.

Mrs. Ingalls' 2 Daughters To Testify in Slave Trial

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 2 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wesley Ingalls' two daughters were to appear against them today in federal court following testimony of a son-in-law that the New England couple enslaved Negro maid Dora Jones after she had served them for years without pay.

The son-in-law, Richard Roberts, Berkeley, Cal., chemist and former Cornell University instructor, said Dora Jones declared last Oct. 11, during a conference at the Berkeley police station, that she had never asked the Ingalls for pay—"because she knew she wouldn't get it."

William G. Hoyt, Berkeley police sergeant, testified Mrs. Ingalls told him she and her husband had kept Dora in their service without pay because she was a protege of Mrs. Ingalls.

Hoyt and Roberts also testified the maid was threatened with jail or commitment to an institution by the Ingalls if she left them.

Roberts was to be followed on the stand by his wife, the former Helen Ingalls, and by Mrs. Ingalls' daughter by her first marriage, Mrs. Ruth Sastendyk of Chicago.

Hoyt said that after Dora told him during the conference that she was free to come and go at the Ingalls' home, he asked her why she stayed with them.

"Because I came between Mrs. Ingalls and her first husband," Hoyt quoted the maid as saying, "and I had caused her so much misery and trouble that I felt I should stay and make it up to her."

Mrs. Olivia Ann Lyman of Boston testified the Negro maid lived on Boston's Beacon Hill in a bare six-by-seven foot room now used for garbage and trash.

Link Bugsy Killing To Debt, $150,000 Bad Checks Cited

LOS ANGELES, July 2 (AP)—An intricate pattern of evidence they said indicated Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel was slain June 20 because he was broke and unable to pay debts which may aggregate $1,500,000 was woven today by authorities who admittedly are still far off the scent aas to who rubbed out the dapper racketeer

Latest development came with an official announcement that the erstwhile public enemy had issued two checks, totaling $150,000, and that both had bounced.

It was made by Walter Lentz, chief special agent for State Atty. Gen. Fred Howser, and H. Leo Stanley, chief investigator for Dist. Atty. William Simpson.

VIRGINIA HILL

'Bugsy' Siegel

Stanley said the checks had been given to Del E. Webb, wealthy Phoenix, Ariz., contractor, who built the luxurious Flamingo gambling casino at Las Vegas, Nev., in which Siegel reputedly had a heavy financial interest.

Both checks were drawn on the Flamingo Project Corp. One, for $50,000, was returned because of insufficient funds, and the other, for $100,000, had had the payment stopped, the investigator said. The latter was dated four days before Siegel's death.

Stanley identified Webb as one of the owners of the New York Yankee Baseball Club, but made it plain Webb was in no way connected with Soegel's death.

A fusillade of bullets, fired by an unidentified assailant into the palatial Beverly Hills home of Virginia Hill, thrice wed Alabama heiress and playgirl, who was in Paris at the time, snuffed out the gangster's life as he sat on a divan reading a newspaper.

Exhibiting photographic copies of the checks, Lentz told newsmen:

"We believe that these are not the only checks on which Siegel stopped payment. We think his primary purpose in coming to Los ngeles (from Las Vegas) on the day of his murder was to raise money to cover his bad checks."

Stanley said a fiend of Siegel's came to him a week befoe the killing and quoted the gangster as saying:

"I need $1,500,000 within 30 days. The bank won't lend it to me and my friends have helped all they can. If I don't get it, I'll have to hide out."

Stanley did not disclose the identity of the friend but quoted him further as saying Siegel had told him he had "borrowed up to the hilt."

The investigator said he understood the Flamingo Club's cost originally had been estimated at $1,500,000, that the figure later jumped to $4,000,000 and that the Webb company filed a lien against the club for $1,500,000 because of failure to collect .

Indications that the Flamingo Club was proving a poor investment because of too small a patronage and too heavy gambling losses also showed up in their evidence, Stanley and Lentz disclosed.

Added Lentz:

"It is not so much who was killed, but what is behind it.

"Gambling, narcotic smuggling, bookmaking, prostitution and other forms of crime are here. This area has become known as a 'soft spot' among criminals who tend to concentrate here."

Paul Jones Celebration For 4 Days

From original plans for a one-day celebration, observance of John Paul Jones Day next Sunday in commemoration of America's first naval hero has spread to a four-day series of events, it developed today.

Focal points of the festivities, however, in events scheduled for the navy yard in Charlestown on Sunday, with open house from 1 to 5 and exercises aboard the frigate Constitution, nearest to a replica of the vessel commanded by John Paul Jones in Continental days.

Pending further developments through the week, the John Paul Jones program starts with a preview Friday—Independence Day —and continues Saturday with the Navy in "full dress" (complete with ensign flying and a rainbow of signal flags on display.)

Sunday's program, in addition to the colorful ceremony aboard the Constitution, will include the welcoming of visitors aboard a number of ships at the Charlestown yard, inspection of other vessels at the South Boston annex and at many other ports throughout New England.

During the afternoon, more than 100 Navy planes of the fighter type—many of which had been catapulted from the decks of aircraft carriers during the war—will lend their support to the observance with a noisy entrance over Boston from the west and a flight over the Charles River and Charlestown yard before returning to their base at Quonset, R. I.

In the evening, a variety of radio programs have been scheduled in honor of the Continental and Revolutionary commander and some have extended the schedule to include Monday tributes to the great naval hero.

Congressmen, Vets Ask Curley Freedom

Veterans' organizations and a number of members of Congress—at least a score of the latter—have joined in the appeal for executive clemency for Mayor James M. Curley.

This was learned at the White House today while U. S. Pardon Atty. Daniel Lyons strove to expedite a recommendation to President Truman from the Dept. of Justice.

Meanwhile, the mayor still is in the prison hospital at Danbury, Ct., where he is sentenced to serve six to 18 months on mail fraud charges.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, July 2 (INS)—The White House said today that President Truman is awaiting the Justice Department's recommendation on the pardon application of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said that Curley's plea for executive clemency still is being examined by the Justice Department. Ross added that the pardon application and the petitions signed by thousands of the jailed mayor's fellow citizens will come to Mr. Truman's attention only after the Attorney General has completed study of the case.

Curley's counsel says his physical condition is such he will probably die unless he is soon restored to freedom.

Friends in Congress have sent individual letters in his behalf. Because of federal regulations in clemency cases they are held in confidence.

The Veterans of Bataan, of Boston, and a large number of Massachusetts posts of the American Legion have forwarded petitions.

Rep. Lane, Massachusetts Democrat who attended the Curley court hearing, said that friends of the veteran political leader in Congress, where he was serving when elected mayor, would do all possible for him.

"We feel that the case is one for a display of mercy, if nothing else," he said.

"The legal aspects of the trial are ended, but there is no good reason to keep Mayor Curley in jail when there is every reason to believe it will hasten his death.

"His pardon, or parole, or whatever may be done to give him his freedom, is an act of simple mercy. He is an old man and he is very sick."

Clubwomen Say NO to Long Skirts

By ADELAIDE KERR

NEW YORK, July 2—Will American women accept the new fall fashions—the most drastic change shown in years?

Buyers who saw the collections (stressing longer skirts and featuring sloping shoulders, larger-crowned close-fitting hats and some coat built on 1920 wrap-around lines) have been asking themselves that question.

So I put it to a half dozen women attending the 1947 convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in New York and the answers popped as fast as popcorn over a fire. This is what they said:

Mrs. H. Leslie Howard, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. (silver-haired and dressed in conservative black and white): "Women won't stand for long skirts. An inch longer maybe, but not 11 inches from the floor. They are unbecoming and they don't give as much freedom either. Shorter skirts are more becoming and youthful."

Mrs. William Adams, of Philadelphia, Pa. (who topped her grey hair with a red headband and wore a printed frock): "I wouldn't wear them either. It means a whole change of wardrobe probably. And there is a decided tendency for women to spend less on clothes now."

Mrs. Luella Laudin, of New York (a dark-haired younger woman in a red and green print frock): "That's right. Every time I have admired the clothes women were wearing at this convention, they told me that they didn't buy one ne wthing for this trip."

Mrs. Sam Rennick, of El Paso, Texas (dressed in smart white and pearls): "I like the longer skirts and I'm going to wear them. I'm so tired of the middle aged spread above those short skirts. It isn't necessary to buy a whole new wardrobe. There are so many peplums and additions to waistlines that many skirts can be lowered from the top."

Mrs. Laudin: "I can't leogthen my dresses. And I'm going to wear out my old clothes. I don't care if I'm the last woman in New York in a short dress."

Mrs. Arthur Jehll of Chicago (youthful and pretty grandmother in a blue and pink veiling hat)—"I think women will probably take to the long skirts. They have done it before—though I laugh at myself when I look at those pictures."

Mrs. John T. Rogers of Laramie, Wyo. (a motherly figure dressed in blue with a wide-brimmed hat) —"It's not long skirts we need. It's long sleeves."

Mrs. Adams—"I hear they are doing away with such wide exaggerated shoulders and making shoulders more natural."

Mrs. Jehll—"You have to have some shoulder padding, though, to balance that middle-aged spread. You have to give nature a little help."

Mrs. Rogers: "I don't like the idea of that figure eight silhouette. I couldn't wear it."

Mrs. Rennick: "Neither could your daughter probably. Young people don't wear stays now, so they don't have small waists anyway."

Mrs. Rennick: "I'm glad to hear hats are going to be larger. We have had enough of little hats."

Mrs. Adams: "Women don't like hats any more anyway. I just wear this little band and many other women like the same thing."

Mrs. Laudin: "One thing I won't do, and that is wear a cloche, if it's the last hat left in New York. I'll go bareheaded first."

Urge U. S. Cancel Bay State Vet Debts

With leaders of veterans' organizations heading the fight, Congress today was implored to cancel the $1,000,000 indebtedness of 14,000 Massachusetts veterans who were overpaid on their on-the-job allowances in recent months.

At the same time, Kenneth S. Craft, assistant deputy administrator of the VA here, disclosed that Bay State ex-GI's were repaying these amounts to the government at a rate of $50,000 a month.

He denied that the names of veterans who have been unable to repay would either be posted or turned over for collection.

Despite the high rate of repayment, most of it on the installment plan at $10 a month, the lowest amount accepted by the VA, the total debt is not being proportionately reduced because thousands of additional overpayment checks are continuing to be sent out to veterans, it was revealed.

This complication was attributed to failure by veterans and employers to report the veterans' status every three months, as required. As a result, veterans who have left school or ceased training, or whose income exceeds the maximum allowed, continue to receive subsistence checks.

"The Veterans Administration has no intention to inflict any hardships on the veteran and we are not contemplating any prosecution," Craft asserted.

Vet in Coma for 136th Day, Miracle Doctors' Only Hope

FRAMINGHAM, July 2—This is the 136th day of unconsciousness for Ralph Abbott, 32, Norwood veteran, at Cushing Veterans Administration Hospital. He is no nearer death than he was Feb. 17, when his brain was lacerated in an automobile accident in Weston. But he still exists only in some half-world on the periphery of life.

All treatments known to medical science have been exhausted. The best care that hospitals can give has been provided. The doctors are reduced to relying on hope for a miracle.

"Where there's life, there's hope," said Dr. Don Sweeney, senior resident surgeon of the neurological service.

So they're keeping the veteran of the Pacific campaigns alive, with nurses on duty 24 hours a day, feeding him with liquids, bathing him, simulating exercise with physio-therapy. His reflexes are gone, he is insensible to pain, but as long as he doesn't give up, the doctors won't.

Abbott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Abbott of Norwood, realize just what their son's chances are. They visit him daily, and frequently confer with Dr. Sweeney or Dr. Joseph Cohen, Cushing's medical director.

Abbott was employed at Cushing for a year before his injury. Last March he was subjected to a trephining of his skull to relieve pressure on the brain. That operation was performed at Waltham Hospital and later he was transferred to Cushing.

Numerous doctors have since examined him to give advice or to add to their knowledge of unusual cases. Few persons have ever lived so long unconscious because of the cessation of one bodily function or another, but expert care and an apparently indomitable will has kept Abbott alive.

He is a veteran of five years' Army service and was in the Pacific with a medical unit.

Plan Apartment Homes for Vets

The Boston Housing Authority, hampered by soaring building costs, will seek Monday to abandon construction of half of its $10,000,000 one and two-family veterans' housing project, and use the remaining fund to build apartment houses on the stalled South Boston and South End sites, it was announced today.

BHA Chrm. John Carroll has outlined the plan to Acting Mayor John B. Hynes, who indicated that any method of providing more housing at lower cost would be welcome. Arguments for the change to apartment housing will be presented by Carroll at Monday's meeting of the City Council.

BOYLSTON TAX RATE $52

Corner station. "Don't pinch me." When he was told he was wanted for murder, Tupper threw coffee at the officers and fought savagely until subdued. He then muttered about his frustrated plans for divorce and his hopes of marrying one of the victims.

The Tuppers had been married 15 years and have the one daughter. They had separated some time ago after constant quarrels.

Relatives said Tupper had pleaded with his wife for a divorce two days ago during a visit to the Talbot ave. home.

Tupper and Miss Kiminiski had been friendly for some time and she was a frequent guest at the home of Tupper's mother.

Susan had been spending the night at the home of friends, and when she was missing it was feared she might have been taken away by her father. She was located, however, an hour later.

Medical Examiner Timothy Leary said both women died instantly.

The slayer made no attempt on the lives of any except the two victims. Among those who faced him was Albert Dort, janitor of the Talbot ave. apartment house where the wife met death.

Dort and Richard Knight, a neighbor, sped into the Tupper apartment to find the slain wife with her aunt standing over her, dazed.

Suffolk Probate Court records reveal Tupper was sentenced to 30 days in Jail by Judge Joohn V. Mahoney on Feb. 15, 1940, for failure to keep up payments of $8 a week for the support of his wife and daughter.

Court attaches said lack of an Qentry showing Tupper paid up the $96 he owed at the time indicated he had probably spent the entire 30 days in jail.

The sentence climaxed a year of litigation in which young Mrs. Tupper brought eight separate petitions to have Tupper adjudged in contempt of court for failure to keep up the support payments.

In September, 1937, Supreme Court Justice Arthur W. Dolan, then a probate judge, had issued a temporary calling for $10 weekly payments by Tupper and had enjoined him "from imposing any restraint upon the personal liberty" of his wife.

This was superseded in January, 1939, by a permanent order handed down by Judge Frederick J. Dillon granting Mrs. Tupper and child $8 a week.

Search for Maine Wives Shifts to Pennsylvania

Two Gardiner, Me., housewives, who vanished with their children last Friday, today were sought at Coatsville, Pa., following information they had planned a motor trip to that city.

They are Mrs. Arlene Ellingwood, 23, and her daughter Donna, 2, and Mrs. Eloise C. MacKenbie, 26, and her son Herman, Jr., 5. Husbands of the pair at first believed they would find their spouses in Boston and reported them missing at the Charlestown police station on Monday after a vain search of Boston hotels.

What's hot as a and pretty as a

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, will be supplied at extra cost as soon as available.

In two short words—this one!

This big and brawny beauty with the trim, bold front and the long sweep-through fenders.

This broad-chested traveler with the big Fireball straight-eight engine and the spirit of lively action in every line and movement.

This gracious, spacious carriage that seats three in comfort both front and back—handles light as a baby's stroller—strides always level and smooth on big, soft, cushiony coil springs on each of its four wheels.

This stout and ready Buick, fresh in looks as tomorrow's daisies, rugged as a battle cruiser, and full of zip and pepper as a string of popping firecrackers.

You're looking at America's most wanted car every time you see one.

You're looking at the forecaster of fashion, the top star on performance, the standout buy for size, room, steadiness, comfort.

So naturally it's in demand. In such steady demand, in fact, that about the most Buick's slowly mounting production can do is move you a little faster from the bottom of our waiting list to the top.

Needless to say, we'll do all we can to speed that process. We'll take your order any time, with or without a trade-in, and get you your Buick the minute your number comes up.

But we can't do more than you'll authorize us to do—which means we're stymied till you get your order in.

ONLY BUICK HAS ALL THESE STAR FEATURES

★ AIRFOIL FENDERS ★ BUICOIL SPRINGING

★ FIREBALL POWER — from valve-in-head straight-eight engines in two sizes.

Would-Be Holdup Ends With Loan

DETROIT, July 21 (INS)—A would-be bandit who talked his intended victim out of a $5 loan was freed by Judge John J. Maher.

John McGowan, 32, walked into a cleaning shop, witnesses said, and demanded that Violet Bolint, 18-year-old clerk, hand over the money. Miss Bolint said when she told McGowan the manager had just taken the cash away, he showed her he had no gun and declared, "I'm hungry and tired of sleeping in fields."

They talked about 10 minutes and then she loaned McGowan the $5 voluntarily after he told her his name. Judge Maher ruled not guilty on grounds no larceny took place and no weapon was involved.

Vacation ahead... PERHAPS YOU'LL BE MAKING LONG DISTANCE CALLS

Whether it's a matter of confirming reservations — or winning the local tennis tournament — vacations always seem to make lots of occasions for long distance calls. That's why our lines are kept humming in the summer time.

To help handle New England's summer calls, we've had men at work for many months — adding hundreds of new Long Distance circuits and improving our central office facilities. We have a large group of courteous, efficient operators to serve you.

Best times to call, to and from the most popular vacation places, will be from 1 to 7 p. m. weekdays or any time on Sunday. Lines are busiest weekday mornings, and evenings after 7.

★ ★ ★

THE FOURTH OF JULY will bring heavy calling both before and during the holiday week-end. There may be some delays, but our operators will be doing everything humanly possible to get your calls through fast.

Ruinous Floods Peril More Dikes in Rush Past St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, July 2 (AP)—The raging Mississippi river continued its destructive sweep past the St. Louis area today after breaking four nearby levees and routing thousands of persons from their homes when additional dikes were threatened.

The river surged to a 103-year high of 40.2 feet following Monday night's torrential rains, then remained stationary for several hours, but Harry F. Wahlgren, U. S. meteorologist, said the stream would probably climb another tenth of a foot before falling. The all-time record here is 41.3 set in 1844.

U. S. Army engineers estimated damage between Louisiana, Mo., and Cairo, Ill., at nearly $12,000,000, mostly to farm land and buildings. Farm agents pointed out that most of the agricultural loss would result from inability to raise crops in the growing period remaining.

Some 26,000 persons were reported homeless by the Red Cross in Missouri, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, while an estimated 8400 were homeless between Alton and Chester, Ill.

Three Police Veterans Go Into Retirement

Three Boston police officers whose service totals 70 years were in retirement today.

They are Lt. William J. Cripps of the West Roxbury division, 26 years; Patrolman Emerald Emery of the traffic division and Patrolman Thomas G. Babcock of the East Boston station, 22 years each.

Detective-Fire Bureau Swap Affects 8 State Cops

State Police Detective Alfred J. Falkland, Francis F. Fleming, Joseph E. Kelleher and Harold J. Peloquin today took over duties in the fire prevention bureau.

Transferred from the latter bureau to the detective bureau were John N. Butler, Cornelius J. Crowley, Anthony S. Lecaire and John J. Young.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

THE PRESIDENT has appointed several committees here and in Europe to consider questions leading to conclusions with regard to our foreign policy, particularly the question as to how much we are to lend or give to the countries of Europe.

State Secretary Marshall delivered an address at Harvard University which was completely misunderstood by most of the European countries except Soviet Russia. Apparently the Russians grasped the fact that George Marshall could not, as Secretary of State, determine how much, if any, we are to give or lend the Europeans. He would have to go to Congress for the money and it is not likely that Congress will provide a blank check.

This is a curiously muddled situation which reflects unfavorably upon the Secretary of State's capacity to organize in the field of international economics. It is not his field. Unfortunately, George Marshall walked into a frightful situation not of his making. But that would have been true of any man who became Secretary of State at the moment of the worst degeneration of our relationship with our former allies, both the Russians and the British. The Greco-Turkish aid, called the Truman Doctrine, was a domestic success, but the Hungarian coup d'etat and the inability to get a loan for China from the Export-Import Bank were embarrassing.

MARSHALL apparently felt that he could save Western Europe from Communism by pouring huge loans into Europe, amounting to huge exports of goods and machinery to countries that cannot ever repay. Neither President Truman nor Sec. Marshall seem to grasp the extremely simple fact in economics that not money but goods must be exported; not printed paper but wheat, iron, meat steel and all sorts of commodities, much of which is unavailable for export.

The appointment of various fact-finding committees by President Truman could solve no problem. The bare facts have always been available. Those of us who for two years now have been demanding a survey of the economic condition of the United States, particularly in relationship to gifts and loans in Europe, never meant that a helter-skelter committee containing odds and ends of public men under the chairmanship of Averell Harriman could do more than pull together data available in the statistical abstract of the United States or the World Almanac.

More is needed than that. An overall appraisal of this data; an analysis of its relationship to the future of this country; the projection of data, say to cover the next quarter of a century; a co-relation of American with European data—this task requires extraordinary intelligence, knowledge and experience far beyond the capacity of most of the personalities appointed to these various committees.

True, there are some fine persons on these committees and one hates to question their services for any reason except that the national welfare requires more. Some time ago, I suggested that Herbert Hoover, Bernard Baruch and Karl T. Compton could serve as such a board to analyze the data and to indicate a course. That suggestion apparently was unacceptable just as all suggestions, from whatever source, which could cut the Gordian knot of our extremely complicated situation, have proved unacceptable.

THE REASON is that no one dares to admit that a single error has been made in our foreign policy since 1937. These errors stand out like ugly peaks: The Atlantic Charter, the Singapore conference, Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam, the Morgenthau plan, JCS 1067, the Spruille Braden policy following the wild good neighbor policy, the lack of clarification as to the use of the veto, and so much else.

This country is like a neurotic woman, all tangled up, who dares not confess. Each new step leads to further complications. Each misstep involves new schemes of deception. If the entire picture were disclosed frankly, faithfully, unashamedly, the American people would not be more shocked than they are by the maddening shiftings and retreatings and sudden ejaculations which always end in a denser fog of confusion. It was hoped that George Marshall, the soldier, would do what politicians and diplomats avoid—hit straight to a bull's eye. He has not done so.

—E. Simms Campbell—Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

WILL THE DICE ROLL AGAINST YOU THIS WEEK END?

Just what are your chances of being killed or injured in an auton bile accident this week end? Will the dice roll against you?

On the last comparable Fourth of July week end ten people were killed in traffic accidents and scores of others were seriously injured.

Each one of these accidents brought tragedy to some Massachusetts home . . . grief for the loss of a father, mother or child . . . years of physical torment . . . never-ending remorse for having caused such suffering to others.

The worst part of it all is this: Not one of these people needed to die or be hurt. For accidents are caused and they can be prevented.

So your chances of being killed or injured or of causing tragedy for others depend entirely on you. Here are four ways you can make sure that the dice won't roll against you:

1. Don't take your car out of the garage unless you know it is in good running order — unless steering, brakes, tires and lights are in good condition.
2. Don't drive too fast; don't try to "beat" traffic lights; don't cut in and out of line; don't crowd.
3. Don't drive if you have been drinking.
4. Don't be too proud to give up your right of way. Drive as though every other driver on the road were crazy, never forgetting that a lot drive as if they were.

Remember: A life is worth too much to risk losing it. Don't gamble when you drive. The stakes are too high. You can't win.

175 BERKELEY STREET, BOSTON 17, MASS.

★ We work to keep you safe ★

HOW MANY LIVES CAN WE SAVE?

Before the Memorial Day week end this year, Liberty Mutual addressed a similar appeal to car owners throughout Massachusetts to drive safely and save lives. With the endorsement of public officials and splendid support from the press and radio, a heartening result was achieved.

According to Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Rudolph F. King, only three people lost their lives in traffic accidents in this state on May 30 – 31 and June 1, 1947, whereas in the last comparable period (May 30 – 31 and June 1, 1941) there were eight traffic fatalities.

Here is tangible proof that automobile killings can be reduced. And here, too, is a direct challenge to drive with even greater caution during the long holiday week end just ahead.

Why does Liberty Mutual interest itself in making the highways safer? From our experience in dealing with bereaved families, we know the horror that follows every serious automobile accident. We know, too, the never-ending remorse of those who have caused these accidents.

We can and do pay the cost of these losses, when our policyholders are legally liable, but money can never restore a father or mother or child whose life has been snuffed out because someone was careless.

There is another reason why we work to prevent automobile accidents: We want to help bring down the cost of car insurance. Under our mutual plan, the savings we make by helping our policyholders drive safely, as wel as the savings we make through our economical plan of doing business, make possible the return of substantial dividends to our policyholders. These savings to Massachusetts car owners totaled $1,124,353 in 1946 and have amounted to $15,864,376 since the Compulsory Insurance Law went into effect in 1927.

Insurance at its best does more than pay losses — it works to prevent them In this way we work to bring greater safety and security to our policyholders and to the public. With your help, with the help of all responsible car owners, more lives can be saved during the Fourth of July week end. We ask your support in this cause.

Jenny Lou Law Hit at Cohasset

By PEGGY DOYLE

The season's first "straw hat" musical revue, "After Hours," is presently entertaining warm-weather playgoers at Cohasset's Town Hall, where the South Shore Players resumed their June-to-September tenancy this week.

Charles Gaynor's revue, which was originally presented at the Pittsburgh Playhouse last spring, is a mildly amusing, toujours l'amour-alerted revue that leans heavily on the charm and vocal talents of its singing star, attractive Jane Pickens, and the notoriously uncritical nature of summertime show fans.

During the course of the performance, opera is guyed, as are the First Family of these United States, the Trumans, radio, suggestible drama fanciers and the progressive school of child rearing.

The revue's hit number . . . with the paying customers, that is . . . is "Ballad," as sung and otherwise registered by Jenny Lou Law, who obviously has studied the performance of Richard Haydn, Burl Ives and some Chatauqua chalk-talk artist but who retains her own amateur standing.

In all fairness to Miss Law, it must be reported that she rang up the biggest individual hit. In fact, she stopped the show.

Jane Pickens' vocal preoccupation with love . . . "Don't Be Afraid to Dream," "When Will I Find Him?" "Susie Had a Song" . . . made pleasant if not provocative listening. "Neurotic You and Psychopathic Me," which she sang with Al Checco, on a patient-and-doctor basis, burlesque psychiatry rather amusingly.

Nancy Wible and Russell Ford, assisted by the rest of the cast, did well by "Molly O'Reilly," a song with a lit in its notes.

Gaynor, who was represented at Cohasset by another revue of a half-dozen years ago, "Lend an Ear," is responsible for the sketches, music and lyrics in the current revue. It will be presented at Cohasset's Town Hall through this week and next, under the auspices of Mrs. Alexander Dean, Frederick Burleigh and Richard Hoover.

At the Esplanade

Tonight's Esplanade concert in the Hatch Memorial Shell on Embankment rd. at the foot of Mt. Vernon st. will observe the 75th anniversary of "The World's Peace Jubilee," presented by Patrick Gilmore in 1872. The program includes:

"A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" — Luther-Caulbert
Overture to "Leonora," No. 3 — Beethoven
"By the Beautiful Blue Danube" Waltzes — Strauss
"Entrance of the Guests Into the Wartburg" from "Tannhauser" — Wagner
Star-spangled Banner
Spanish Rhapsody for Piano and Orchestra — Liszt-Russell
Folies d'Espagne—Jois Arastoneve
Soloist Bernhard Welser
Waltz Scene from "Faust" — Gounod
Selection of Irish Melodies
Anvil Chorus from "Il Trovatore" — Verdi
Hallelujah Chorus from "Messiah" — Handel

Gable 'Hucksters' Lead Due at State July 17

Frederic Wakefield's challenging and somewhat shocking novel, "The Hucksters," has been screened to the tune of much speculation as to how the movies would treat this unflattering appraisal of radio and advertising business. The interest was heightened by the fact that Clark Gable was chosen to play the leading role, with Deborah Kerr, the English star who was wooed by Hollywood, as his co-star.

"The Hucksters," it is at last announced, will open at the State and Orpheum on July 17th, complete with all the book's exposure of the secrets of soap selling, suds and sobs.

Jenny Lou Law Hit at Cohasset

By PEGGY DOYLE

The season's first "straw hat" musical revue, "After Hours," is presently entertaining warm-weather playgoers at Cohasset's Town Hall, where the South Shore Players resumed their June-to-September tenancy this week.

Charles Gaynor's revue, which was originally presented at the Pittsburgh Playhouse last spring, is a mildly amusing, toujours l'amour-alerted revue that leans heavily on the charm and vocal talents of its singing star, attractive Jane Pickens, and the notoriously uncritical nature of summertime show fans.

During the course of the performance, opera is guyed, as are the First Family of these United States, the Trumans, radio, suggestible drama fanciers and the progressive school of child rearing.

The revue's hit number . . . with the paying customers, that is . . . is "Ballad," as sung and otherwise registered by Jenny Lou Law, who obviously has studied the performance of Richard Haydn, Burl Ives and some Chatauqua chalk-talk artist but who retains her own amateur standing.

In all fairness to Miss Law, it must be reported that she rang up the biggest individual hit. In fact, she stopped the show.

Jane Pickens' vocal preoccupation with love . . . "Don't Be Afraid to Dream," "When Will I Find Him?" "Susie Had a Song" . . . made pleasant if not provocative listening. "Neurotic You and Psychopathic Me," which she sang with Al Checco, on a patient-and-doctor basis, burlesque psychiatry rather amusingly.

Nancy Wible and Russell Ford, assisted by the rest of the cast, did well by "Molly O'Reilly," a song with a lilt in its notes.

Gaynor, who was represented at Cohasset by another revue of a half-dozen years ago, "Lend an Ear," is responsible for the sketches, music and lyrics of the current revue. It will be resented at Cohasset's Town Hall through this week and next, under the auspices of Mrs. Alexander Ian, Frederick Burleigh and Richard Hoover.

Dog Pack Chews Boy to Death

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)— Stanley Balaban, 11, was chewed and clawed to death yesterday by a pack of bull terriers in a tract of marshlands and a patrolman was injured severely by the animals before they were driven off by gunfire.

The boy was attacked after leaving a Bronx swimming pool where he had gone with his mother.

Later, another boy crossing the marshland noticed five dogs tearing at some object.

Patrolman Louis Rissone, 31, went to investigate. As he approached the pack, one of the dogs lunged at him and knocked him down while others circled about.

As Rissone wrestled with the animal, reinforcements arrived and fellow policemen shot two of the dogs dead while the others scattered.

FALSE ALARM

JERUSALEM, July 2 (AP)— An Arab laborer last night found what he fought was a bomb, and his mama, heard by a passing police car, set off a general alarm. The "bomb" proved to be a stuff of wood.

When the general alarm sounded, ten policemen throughout the city turned in reports of what they believed to be explosions and gunfire.

Investigation showed they were false. The government itself issued one official report that no casualties had been reported.

Free Chest X-lays Start in Charlestown

Operation Fails, Burglar Jailed

PITTSBURGH, July 2 (AP) — Millard F. Wright, who has spent 15 of his 38 years behind bars, went back to prison today after a judge branded as a "publicity stunt" the brain operation he underwent to cure "criminal tendencies."

Judge J. Malcolm McDonald sentenced the self-styled "career burglar" to two to 12 years for 10 robberies committed in 1945.

Commenting on Wright's voluntary submission to the surgery, performed last April 15 with court permission, the judge said:

"It (the story of the operation) reads like the story of a dime novel surgeon. I have no confidence in such surgery. Hopes, perhaps, but no confidence."

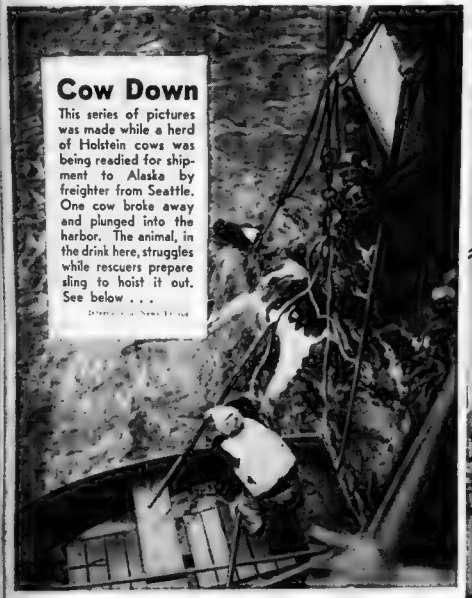
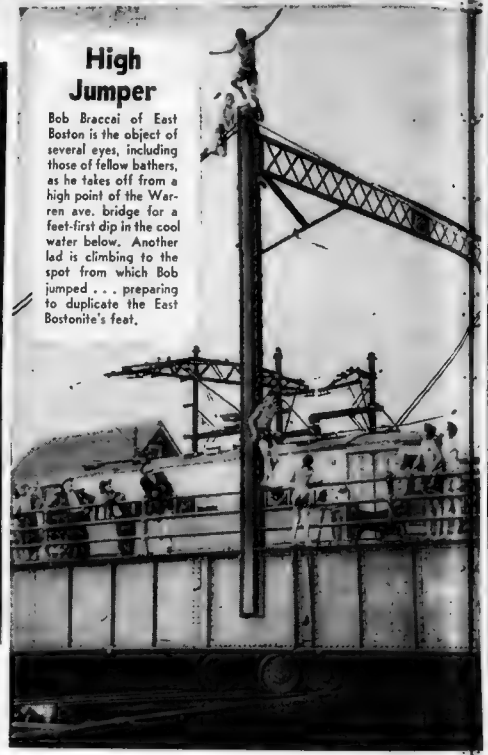
Prefers Harbor to Alaska



Cow Down

This series of pictures was made while a herd of Holstein cows was being readied for shipment to Alaska by freighter from Seattle. One cow broke away and plunged into the harbor. The animal, in the drink here, struggles while rescuers prepare sling to hoist it out. See below . . .



High Jumper

Bob Braccai of East Boston is the object of several eyes, including those of fellow bathers, as he takes off from a high point of the Warren ave. bridge for a feet-first dip in the cool water below. Another lad is climbing to the spot from which Bob jumped . . . preparing to duplicate the East Bostonite's feat.

WISE MICHIGAN SPLITS TAX

THE COMMON SENSE statesmanship of Governor Kim Sigler of Michigan should interest officers of the Boston Bar Association, various college professors and all other persons who recently opposed legislation designed to make Massachusetts a Community Property State.

Governor Sigler has just signed IDENTICAL LEGISLATION, making Michigan the thirteenth State to take this forward step.

He did it, as he said, to reduce the Federal income taxes of his people as much as 40 per cent, to give married women a security and dignity which they have never before enjoyed, and to attract industry and employment to Michigan.

All these benefits might have been shared by the people of Massachusetts if there had been fewer dire predictions and imaginary fears at the legislative hearings on the Community Property plan and more attention to the fact that saving one hundred million dollars a year in avoidable taxation is just as necessary in this State as it is in Michigan.

Fortunately, the Massachusetts Legislature, with the support of Governor Bradford, has created a Special Recess Commission to study the Community Property plan throughout the summer and fall.

So the payment of legally avoidable taxes can be only a TEMPORARY burden on our already over-assessed people.

With the example and experience of progressive, realistic Michigan before us, we too, may become a Community Property State.

SOOTLESS HUB

MR. ARTHUR C. BABSON, the noted economist, recently predicted that the Boston of the future would be smokeless and sootless and that heat for the city's homes and power for its factories might be obtained from chemical plants.

"It is quite possible," Mr. Babson said, "that atomic energy may be the force that will halt the decentralization of our great cities by making them better places in which to live and work.

"With atomic po..er available in Boston, it is conceivable that a steel industry could be built up in the metropolitan area through the utilization of iron ore brought by water from Labrador.

"Such a development would have a most favorable effect on the economy of the whole city through lower steel prices and increased employment."

We suspect that Mr. Babson is so intrigued by the fanciful pictures which have been painted by atom-minded scientists that he is unconsciously overlooking an abundant natural resource which will already do everything which he expects from "chemical plants."

That resource is WATER POWER.

There is more than enough of it in our shamefully neglected rivers, lakes and tidal basins to heat every New England home, operate every New England factory, and run every New England railroad train for a fraction of the present cost of oil or coal.

SAVE A LIFE

THE Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, whose safety campaigns have undoubtedly saved hundreds of lives in the last five years, offers this good advise to Fourth of July motorists:

1—Don't take your car out of the garage unless you know it is in good running order.

2—Don't drive too fast; don't try to "beat" traffic lights; don't cut in and out of line; don't crowd.

3—Don't drive if you have been drinking.

4—Don't be too proud to give up your right of way. Drive as though every other driver on the road were crazy, never forgetting that a lot drive as if they were.

The person who is unable or unwilling to follow these sensible suggestions does not belong on the highway.

The Registrar of Motor Vehicles should take him off, and keep him off for life.

You wonder that my tears should flow
In listening to that simple strain;
How can you tell what thoughts it stirs
Within my heart again?
O, there are voices of the past,
Links of a broken chain,
Wings that can bear me back to times
Which cannot come again;
Yet God forbid that I should lose
The echoes that remain!
—ADELAIDE ANNE PROCTER.

SOME OF OUR bachelorette clients have asked that we suggest a place a girl can spend her vacation and at the same time have a possible opportunity of acquiring a high-grade matrimonial mate. We suggest these young women give a thought to Canada. According to a recent report, 109 Canadians earned more than $100,000 in 1946 and 67 of these fancy wage earners were bachelors! These bachelors had an average net income of $48,089. At the moment, I do not know exactly where these opulent Canadian bachelors reside or where they spend their summers. However, I have instructed our Mules & Men experts to spare no effort to get these details.

ASKING: Queries from clients: Q. I say Dempsey floored Willard as many times as he did Firpo. My wife says not. Your decision, please. A. Your wife seems to be an interesting person. Must make a good breakfast companion for you. Anyway, the little lady wins the argument. Dempsey floored Willard seven times and Firpo 11 times. Q. You certainly should be the head mule in your Mules & Men department. What makes you so stubborn? Why do you keep on saying it isn't a doughnut if it has a hole in it? A. Because I am right. The original old-fashioned doughnut had no hole in it. But listen, stop nagging me. Put up your stogies and we'll settle this question for once and all.

Jack Dempsey

BRIEFLY: Childless couples, who do not wish to continue to be that way, should ask their family physicians about the "temperature chart" system . . . Canine expert says a 40-pound dog has a stomach three times as large as a 150-pound man. We have a 40-pound dog. The way he acts about food you would think he had a stomach 10 times as large as a 200-pound man. Especially since he came back from that ranch.

RECORD: Anna Magee spent 49 years as a teacher in one school; Public School No. 166, New York city. Is there a public school teacher in Brooklyn who can top that record? Now that we are on the subject of New York's public schools, I wish that instead of having numbers each would be given a name. Maybe I could persuade the alumni of my old alma mater P. S. No. 2 Brooklyn to start a campaign for a public school naming system

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Soon to be available is a portable electric refrigerator. It will weigh 55 pounds . . . Everything seems to indicate large families are the happiest. So, if you are a young married couple and have decided to have only four children, you better make it eight . . . A nine-bird canary choir. That's what a Sydney, Australia, man has. The nine canaries, perched close together, warble hymn tunes as their owner accompanies them on the organ. That I would like to see and hear.

PLEASE NOTE: It is said that after consuming three highballs or cocktails an autoist has 55 times as much chance of being in an accident as a completely sober driver . . . It is not only because of the clothes they wear that women are cooler in the summertime than men. The temperature next to a woman's skin is 10 degrees lower than that of a man and the humidity from one-third to one-half less.

PASSING BY: Dinah Shore. The Dixie Nightingale. Another girl who had little success until she changed her name. When Miss Shore switched from Frances Rose to Dinah, she immediately began going places in the entertainment world . . . Branch Rickey. Pooh-bah of the Brooklyn Dodgers. For many years Mr. Rickey did not drink or smoke. But now he is a cigar smoker. However, it is very improbable strong liquor will ever pass his lips. He is a teetotaler from far back. In fact, at one time he was a prohibition lecturer.

OVER THERE: If an Englishman likes you and wants to be friendly he addresses you by your surname. As for example: "Who do you fancy in the third race, Durling?" But if said Englishman does not like you or wish to be friendly he calls you "Mister." I don't care for that system. I like to be called by my first name. Calling a fellow you like by his last name seems a little cold to me.

"Young man, does this subway go to 125th Street?"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syn., Inc.

NEW YORK, July 2—It appears that other New Dealers besides Henry Wallace and his protege, Louis L. Horch, were familiar with the projects of Nicholas Konstantin Roerich, the mystical Guru or master spirit.

Westbrook Pegler

Morris Leopold Ernst of New York, a lawyer, is a New Dealer. He was associated with Heywood Broun, the old fat Mahatma and political faker, in the organization of the American Newspaper Guild, particularly in the New York chapter, which, ever since those founding days, has been heavily infested with a plague of Communists.

Broun was confirmed a Catholic shortly before he died. Before that, however, he had been a left wing Socialist, and had openly collaborated with the radicals and Communists although he never was honest or brave enough to be frankly one of them.

Not that it matters except as it may effect your opinion of his character and strength. He had also practiced nudism.

One of his colleagues in the bleeding heart profession said of Broun that he had worshipped at all shrines.

MORRIS L. ERNST'S biography in Who's Who in America says he was born in Uniontown, Ala., in 1888, and got his A. B. from Williams and his law degree from New York Law School.

From 1909 to 1911, he was a shirt manufacturer. From 1911 to 1915 his business was "retail furniture."

In 1915 he joined the law firm of Greenbaum, Wolff and Ernst, in New York. Since then he has been "attorney for American Newspaper Guild; served as arbiter for Mayor LaGuardia in taxicab strike, 1934 (a racket strike in which union gangsters terrorized New York while the best police force in the world appeared to be fearful and helpless. Ed.) Drafted legislation for Gov. Lehman (New Deal-Roosevelt Governor of New York. Ed.) On ins. and banking matters; Mem. N. Y. State Banking Board since inception by app't. Gov.'s Roosevelt and Lehman."

He also wrote several books including "Sex Life of the Unmarried Adult" and "Ultimate Power" and is a "Lecturer Before Clubs and Colleges."

WHAT IS THE guiding thought of this not at all bashful nominee for greatness, who has been a lawyer for one union whose bosses often extolled and appeased Moscow and persecuted many loyal American newspaper workers; who drafted legislation on insurance and banking matters and held an influential position on the board of control of banking in the State of New York?

What is his attitude toward insurance and banking, these indispensable institutions of the capitalist system which underlies the American form of government? Is he friendly to that system? What sort of preaching would club members and politically callow college students hear from Leopold Ernst?

AT THIS POINT I cite a letter from a court record. The case was one in which Louis L. Horch, New Deal disciple of Nicholas Konstantin Roerich, was grabbing back possession of the 24-story lamasery on Riverside Drive known as the Roerich Museum and Master Institute.

The term "master" runs through the projects and literature of Roerich's cleverly publicized career in mysticism, occultism, esoteric Buddhism and New Dealism in New York early in the Roosevelt era.

He was regarded by some of his cultists as a "master intellect" and a "supernormal spirit." Horch has frankly said that as Father Divine was a deity in his cult whose lamaseries were called heavens, so Roerich was a deity to his followers.

Ernst's legal role in the litigation over ownership of the temple is not to be explained in a few lines, but he was at one time for Roerich.

THIS LETTER from the court record is done on the letterhead of Greenbaum, Wolff and Ernst. It is dated Feb. 15, 1933. It was addressed to Roerich at Naggar, Kulu, Punjab, India, which is the Guru's address as given in Who's Who in America.

"My dear Prof. Roerich," it says.

"In behalf of my partners and myself I want to cordially thank you for your letter of Jan. 7, expressing your gratification with our efforts in behalf of the Roerich Museum. As capital dwindles in importance it may well be that cultural movements will get into the ascendancy. There is no doubt in my mind but that these two movements are antagonistic to each other at present. With kind egards to you, Sincerely yours." (Signed) "Ernst."

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 2—Ava Gardner is dazzlingly beautiful in "The Hucksters," but more important, she stands on her own two feet as an actress, with such seasoned players as Clark Gable, Deborah Kerr, Adolphe Menjou and Sidney Greenstreet.

Babe Didrikson

After seeing her in "The Hucksters," I wasn't surprised to be told that Louis B. Mayer had signed her on a new contract and given her co-starring billing with Robert Taylor in his next movie, "This Is Love."

Ava has always felt she never had a chance while she was Mrs. Mickey Rooney—well, the way it looks now, she will soon be battling even, or even ahead of her ex-husband.

Sam Marx, the producer, is now lining up champions in the various sportsworlds, for this picture is a story of sports. He is trying to get Joe Louis, Pauline Betz, Babe Didrikson and the rest of the boys and girls who headline the sport pages.

PEGGY ANN GARNER will be meeting herself coming and going these days. She has two jobs—one in "Daisy Kenyon" at 20th, and the other for Irving Cummings in "Sign of the Ram," at Columbia.

"I certainly appreciate what Darryl Zanuck did for me," said Irving. "He really bent over backward to make it possible for me to have Peggy Ann."

Irving said that he only directed Peggy Ann once in a retake when he was at 20th, but that he thought she was such a splendid actress that it means the world to Susan Peters' first picture to have this fine young actress.

WELL, A WEEK from tomorrow the "Berlin Express" takes off for Germany. With Merle Oberon will be Robert Ryan, Paul Lukas, Charles Korvin and Robert Coote. They are all very excited about this assignment.

Paul was to have gone to Switzerland with "White Tower," when Dore Schary decided to postpone it until later, so this is an exchange for that picture.

Young Ryan was in "Crossfire," and gave a very good account of himself, so he gets the romantic lead opposite Merle.

This is one of the first pictures to be made in the American zone in Berlin, but not the first picture that RKO has made in Europe since the war.

In the new deal Charles Vidor has made with Columbia, he has no restrictions as to where he will make his pictures. He can make them at Columbia or at some other studio. He also has access to Columbia personalities.

In the negotiations of the deal, Harry Cohn stayed strictly out of everything. Ben Kahane did all the talking for Columbia.

I think everybody in Hollywood is very glad this feud is buried deep. Vidor will now be able to turn out top pictures; Columbia will benefit by them because they will release them, and there will be no more bitterness. Too many fights in this troubled old world to let any personal grievances wear you down.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: While Dave Rose had absolutely nothing to do with June Haver's break up with her husband of three months, Jimmy Zito, June is continuing to see Rose secretly.

Perhaps she goes to him for sympathy, for she's very unhappy over the unfortunate ending of her marriage, but there isn't a chance that she and Zito will make up. The break between them is too serious and presents a marital obstacle June doesn't feel she can cope with.

Zito, meanwhile, is making every effort to get June to reconsider.

Lady Iris Mountbatten went to work Monday in New York for Columbia as a special press agent for Rita Hayworth. She'll hypo "Down to Earth" publicity the same way Anita Colby did with "Duel in the Sun" for David Selznick.

In fact, her ladyship's agent, Guido Orlando, once tried to sell her to David—but he balked at the money. For the past three months she's been a dance instructress in a New York school of the rhumba and waltz.

She is our first titled press agent. Don't tell me titles are going to be popular among my pals!

Fourth of July at the Darryl Zanuck home at the beach will be one croquet match after another. A special croquet court has been built and all the experts will be there to try their skill, and compete for honors, and believe me this is very serious. Woe be to anyone who talks while the game is in progress.

Tyrone Power will be Darryl's partner, while they will have as one set of opponents, Howard Hawks and Felix Ferry.

The Zanucks' friends will gather at the opening of the court on the Fourth.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: The romance of Jean Peters and Howard Hughes is dead, dead, dead. Howard is now devoting all his time to perfecting his new inventions for aviation.

Steve Cochrane flew out a few days ago to see Fay McKenzie in New York, so all is sweetness and light, and everybody's happy.

There will be no battle royal over property settlement in the divorce case of Hedy Lamarr and John Loder. Greg Bautzer, John's attorney, made a new settlement for his client which is equitable.

Charles Bennett, who edited "Ivy" and other important pictures, becomes a father in January. His present wife, the former Betty Riley, is his third.

The Dublin Free Press has a photographer here making layouts of our movie stars. What did I tell you about movies being the universal language? Or if I didn't say—I say it now.

Jack and Flo Haley are spending their vacation in Connecticut with the Fred Allens. That last show of Fred's with James Mason as his guest was a dilly.

Tomorrow night, the third annual show of "Music for the Wounded" is being given at the Hollywood Bowl. A wonderful cast composed of Irving Berlin, Edgar Bergen, Ed (Archie) Gardner and many others will contribute their talent to this wonderful cause.

A brand new dinner duo at a table for two at the Beverly Tropics is Huntz Hall, former Dead End Kid, and Edna Ryan.

Gilbert and Kitty Miller, who will be married 20 years on July 16, celebrate their anniversary in Paris, where they were married.

Marsha Hunt's baby was born prematurely at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. Weighing only 3 pounds, the new arrival was placed in an incubator.

The day Marsha entered the hospital, Ronald Reagan went home, and he is now convalescing after a battle with pneumonia.

Helen Walker, who collapsed on the set at 20th Century-Fox and had to be taken home, is much improved.

That's all today.

Boston After Dark

THE HOTELS PURITAN AND SOMERSET held twin pre-views of two new restaurants as a July bid for attention and the launching of the summer season . . . The Puritan's new Sky Garden appealed to your correspondent as a dining, drinking and dancing spot that fills, at last, the long-felt need of just such a gathering place for the youngsters in their late teens and early twenties . . . Because the new Sky Garden has been designed to be attractive to the kids, there will be less emphasis on the "drinking" facilities than on the new roof garden's other allurements, food and a place to dance.

SHOULD THE YOUNG ONES bring along their parents or does that ever happen these days?—the elders will find the Sky Garden a lovely place to sip a tall drink with a kick in it . . . The Somerset's new dining room is an open-air terraced and awning-ed place where the customers can watch their steaks or chops being charcoal broiled as they enjoy a cocktail or an appetizer . . . It is called The Broiler-Q—this new al fresco dining room—and the management has imported a staff of chefs who are experts in the art of charcoal broil.

THREE GENTLEMEN dressed in chef's millinery and white coats were making speeches about charcoal-broiling steaks as your reporter watched the speakers and their audience from standing position near the sidewalk of Charlesgate, on which the terrace fronts . . . Ignoring the three speakers' talent with a skillet and testing-fork, or at a cook-range, we can pay tribute to the trio as declaimers . . . They spoke with the fluency of professional after-dinner speakers, and their material was excellent . . . We observed that the ladies in the audience seemed enthralled, and we heard later that the steaks were wonderful.

BUT IT WAS A DELICACY served at the Puritan's Sky Garden which intrigued your correspondent on his assignment near Kenmore Square . . . Ice cream pie! . . . The famous ice cream pie served at the Statler's Terrace Room and the tributes paid this pastry-ice in this column a few seasons ago admittedly were the inspiration for the ice cream pie of the Puritan's Sky Garden.

THIS COLUMN was so taken with the Statler's piece de resistance of any menu that it incurred the enmity of one headline act and a name band by remarking at the time that the Statler's pie should be "billed" (advertised) over both the entertainer and the orchestra . . . Well, the Puritan's ice cream pie scored an even bigger triumph over this amateur epicure's pernickety palate . . . The Puritan Sky Garden pie is pastry plus ice-cream plus fresh crushed strawberries plus whipped cream. And WITHOUT meringue . . . It is perfect and delicious.

THE TEEN-AGERS and engaged couples and quite possibly some members of the young married set will find the new Sky Garden attractive . . . The light dinners and suppers on the menu are concerned with such gustatory delights of the youngsters as hamburgers on long rolls and lobster salad ditto . . . All sorts of soft drinks are on the beverage list.

THE PURITAN roof garden is terraced and an explorer can find one attractive cranny after another as he strolls around the place . . . The arrangements for dancing are unusual . . . A young and pleasant emcee named Jack Burchett will preside over the Sky Garden's ballroom . . . It is a small compact walled-in separate room in the middle of the roof and has a tiled dance floor and a magnavox for playing records in one corner . . . As the roof ballroom is completely separate from the terraces and gardens where food and beverages are served, only those who use the dance floor will be subject to the federal tax of 20 per cent.

Broadway

NEW YORK, July 2—Don Barry's pitch for Joan Crawford is like Frank Shea's for the Yankees. The film cowboy is wooing her with everything from roses to platina . . . Libby Holman has adopted a baby . . . There's talk that the Duke of Windsor is about to land an important executive job in England—as representative of an American movie company . . . "Prince" Mike Romanoff is on this side of the continent for a checkup and rest at Johns Hopkins . . . Dorothy Ford, filmdom's tall brunette, is returning to Gotham. One of the town's wealthiest socialites is backing a Broadway show for her . . . Milton Berle has turned down four fantastic offers to work in Saratoga—including one from Delmonico's for $15,000 for four days' work, and another of $11,000 for three days . . . Richard Ney and Greer Garson definitely are at the "I'm sorry—let's make up" stage.

Joan Crawford

MRS. ROOSEVELT'S doctors have told her to cut her strenuous schedule to the bone, friends report . . . Mrs. Durie Desloges, awaiting her divorce from a member of a wealthy St. Louis clan, will trek East to marry Tommy Shevlin, society sportsman, as soon as she's legally free . . . Jimmy Collins' wife, who attempted suicide some weeks ago, is home again, fully recovered . . . Eddie Cantor's daughter Edna and Cy Howard, Nan Wynn's ex-husband, are at the serious stage.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON, July 2—Senator Glen H. Taylor, of Idaho, who gave up professional clowning to be a lawmaker although the change is not readily discernible, was principal speaker at a convention of 4000 Townsendites here.

These Townsendites are people who wish to live openly on the people in contrast to more retiring parasites who want to do it less obtrusively. As usual the Townsend Plan, conceived by that master economist, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, was extolled as the salvation of those who do not care to work.

The cowboy-comedian who now carries the more imposing title of "Senior Senator from Idaho" whooped it up for the would-be free loaders by playing his guitar, telling the story of his life, and erupting occasionally into song. It was almost as dignified as his performance in the big labor veto filibuster.

Taylor, who looks and acts like a retired trick bicycle rider from the old Pantages time—he's always on stage—brought down the place with applause when he declared he would certainly vote for the Townsend Plan if given the opportunity.

THIS WAS REALLY nothing to be surprised about because he has distinguished himself of late by voting against virtually all constructive legislation, yapping that we must get along with the Russians, and constantly attacking American business.

In fact he told his appreciative audience that "I got here over the bodies of corporations." He was so vivid you could almost see the corpses strewn over Idaho's pastoral landscape, with the surviving capitalists trying to seek sanctuary under the geysers in Yellowstone Park.

I would certainly like to know where all those big, evil, corporations were hiding the last time I toured Idaho. Maybe a wicked witch had been at work and turned all the bloated tycoons into jackrabbits.

Taylor, who used to have his own repertoire company, was assisted in his act before the Townsendites by his wife and two sons, Arod, 12, and Peejay, 5. He explained that Arod is the name of his wife, Dora, spelled backwards, and that "Peejay" is a nickname for Paul Jon.

Arod, I suppose, is really very fortunate. Suppose his mother's first name had been Tharodoed?

-3-

FORMER REP. JED JOHNSON, of Oklahoma, was being sworn in the other day as judge of the U. S. Customs Court. He surveyed the assemblage and became very expansive.

"I know everybody here," he said with his best politician's smile. "I'll bet I can call each of you by name."

He started to make good his boast and was calling off names until he got to Roy St. Lewis, one of our leading legal luminaries.

"And there," he said, "is Roy St. Lewis—but he's a Republican."

At this, Chief Justice Fred Vinson grabbed hold of the new judge's coat and pulled him into his seat.

"You're on the bench now," hissed the chief justice. "You can't talk politics!"

I WAS TALKING to the new president of Columbia University the other night. He is a soldierly-looking fellow and looks as if he might have seen service with the armed forces.

The educator was a guest at a farewell party for Col. James Stack who is retiring as principal aide to Gen. Eisenhower. It turned out that Col. Stack knew Columbia's new prexy very well and kept addressing him as "Sir" although Col. Stack is not what you would call an educational type.

I asked Col. Stack why he persisted in calling a college president "Sir" and he said it was force of habit. I said the prexy's face seemed sort of familiar and Col. Stack said he was known around Washington as Gen. Eisenhower.

Jack Hennessy, the Statler tycoon, told Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler's successor he had some old school books lying around.

"I'd like to have them," said teacher Eisenhower. "It's nice for a college president to have a couple of books."

Harry Wismer, sports broadcaster, asked Ike if he would try to have Columbia play Army. The prexy looked alarmed.

"For Pete's sake!" he cried. "Don't start anything like that!"

Ike revealed he had been offered an alternate job as publisher of a newspaper, declining to say which one.

"They told me I could be non-political," he said.

For some strange reason everybody laughed.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—What is the last planting date for sweet corn?

A—In most sections July 1 is considered the deadline, but if the midget varieties are used, you can take a chance up to July 10.

Q—Our daffodils are thick and do not bloom well. Can they be separated now?

A—If the tops have dried back, the bulbs can be dug, separated and dried. When dried in the sun, they can be stored in a cool place until ready for fall setting.

Q—When should corn have the last cultivation?

A—Corn can be cultivated until it is about two feet high. After that the roots are out in the row and near the surface. Deep cultivation at this time does more harm than good.

Q—Can stone chips be used to mulch plants.

A—A half inch or so of rock chips have given good results around trees and rock garden plants. This practice helps to save moisture and controls weeds.

Q—Can columbine seed be saved and planted next spring?

A—Saving seed pods of columbine will give a great variety of color. Sow seeds as soon as the pods are ripe to get the plants started well this fall.

Q—The ends of my grapevine break off. Is this caused by some insect?

A—This damage is done by the grape cane girdler. Spraying early with DDT may control this pest, but usually it does little harm to well established vines.

Q—What culture should I give oyster plant? It has come up very well.

A—This plant grows very much like parsnip and requires about the same care. Thin plants so that they stand about 3 inches apart in the row.

Q—Our new strawberry plants do not seem to be starting up well. What can we do to bring them along?

A—New plantings are showing the effect of too much rain which leached out the plant food. Side dress with complete fertilizer to encourage runners to start.

GALLANT?

ALGONA, Ia., July 2 (AP)—Four men were standing by as Mrs. Sam Foster moved a kitchen stove.

But they bestirred themselves when a stove leg broke and the range fell on her. They extricated her from beneath the stove.

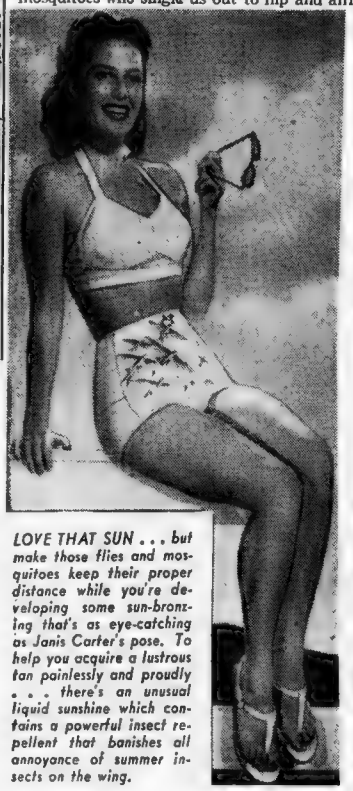
BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, WED., JULY 2, 1947

Tan Liquid Bans Insects

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

BEACH BASKING WOULD BE ALL that it is supposed to be if only our honeysuckle sweetness . . . yours and mine . . . wasn't common knowledge to all the flies and mosquitoes who single us out to nip and annoy. If we could banish for good and all time the pesky perch these insects take when we're of a mind to laisy-daisy it in the sun . . . summer joy would be more than a phrase.



LOVE THAT SUN . . . but make those flies and mosquitoes keep their proper distance while you're developing some sun-bronzing that's as eye-catching as Janis Carter's pose. To help you acquire a lustrous tan painlessly and proudly . . . there's an unusual liquid sunshine which contains a powerful insect repellent that banishes all annoyance of summer insects on the wing.

Because there was sufficient pressure in this direction a noted cosmetician ordered her laboratory to conduct research along these lines and to come up with some liquid sunshine that would not only make excursions into the health and beauty of the sun safe ones . . . but pleasant ones as well.

This light, fragrant liquid not only does a thorough job of protecting your skin texture, enabling you to acquire a lustrous painless tan . . . but it also contains this repellent which, it is claimed, positively banishes all annoyances of mosquitoes and flies.

Because it contains special ingredients which screen off harmful, burning rays of the sun . . . yet allowing you to turn a delicious brown . . . and because it shoos away all the flies and mosquitoes from feasting on your succulent skin it assures comfortable, non-blistering, non-drying sun burn.

WHOLE FAMILY CAN USE IT

Your desire to be toasted-brown on both sides . . . a natural yearning in summer time . . . may be realized without the annoyance of so many digressing episodes during the procedure. This liquid sunshine should be applied frequently and liberally to your face and body. The sun won't caress you into a lobster-red, rebellious-looking siren . . . the flies and mosquitoes will shun you like the plague . . . and you, my dear, will have the most comfortable time of your life wherever you are taking the sun for all it is worth.

This is a preparation that is as effective for the glamor gal as for her mother, sister, brother and father. It is a versatile safeguard for those who prefer to keep their sojourns under the sun on the beach or in the back yard safe, sane and happy. Devotees of the sun are increasing by leaps and bounds . . . as more women realize its tremendous benefits to health and beauty.

Yet while they turn to the sun with one great annual surge to the seashore . . . they do not all turn away from it looking the same . . . nor having enjoyed it the same. Be arbitrary with your interludes in the sun . . . but don't be arbitrary with the peskies who haunt summer sunning.

For the name of this liquid sunshine with a powerful insect repellent, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except week-end, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR A STUDY in contrasts . . . between the pictured sum time beauty and the anticipated fall fashion trends . . . we you Jeanne Tete's new silhouette for fur-time. A profile cl . . . it is done in gray felt and trimmed with silver tinsel draped to the side. The new fall hats are following the sweep contour line to counterbalance the longer hemline.

Hostess Should Not Assist With Coat

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: Is it, or isn't it, correct for a hostess (a hostess of any age, either a married woman, or a girl greeting her "date" at the door) to take a man's hat and coat when he arrives and to help him put on his coat when he leaves? Your answer will settle a bet between my brother and me. Thank you. CELIA.

It is not correct for a hostess (of any age) to take a man's hat and/or coat when he arrives or to hand him his hat or help him put on his coat when he departs. (Naturally a hostess does assist a man who is crippled or infirm and therefore needs her assistance.) Who wins, Celia—you or your brother?

Ideal for a City Summer

EILEEN CALLAHAN

IN THREE easy lessons you, too, can look cool and competent in the hot city this Summer. Lesson 1 is to wear a bare-top dress whose balance of bareness and covering is a model of strategic planning. Lesson 2 is to provide the dress with a little jacket for pretty cover-up. Lesson 3 is to have the outfit in a cool, dark material.

The Summer collections are full of lovely variations on the dress and jacket idea. One of the best for wear in the city is the use of silk shantung in an outfit that without its jacket is sophisticated enough for tea time dancing or, with its jacket, conservative enough for shopping.

The ensemble sketched today from Hattie Carnegie's Jeune Fille collection shows how splendidly the look of luxury combines with the feeling of cool competence. Silk shantung, in black or bright green, makes the simple dress and the brief lumberjack. The dress fits tight across the bosom where it finishes, back and front, with a fold of the material. The sides are open except for latticed lacings. The jacket is fitted to the waist, full above and open at the front.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

LET OTHERS USE IT, TOO! Why do the high school age members of a family take the attitude that the telephone is their private property? And why do they always make and receive their telephone calls at meal hours? (It's time to stop the lengthy calls and prove you are "grown up" by not acting annoyed when someone else tries to use the telephone! And why not tell the one who calls, "I'll have to make this short. It's dinner time"?)

Pleasant Thoughts Make Pleasant Manners

"The pleasantest things in the world are pleasant thoughts . . . and the great Art of Life is to have as many of them as possible."—MONTAIGNE

Food for July 4th Picnic

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

EVERYBODY IS TALKING about going on a 4th July picnic. Maybe there will be some swimming, sun bathing and a few holes of golf thrown in to stimu outdoor appetites even more. A picnic is not a real picnic unless there is lots of food with plenty for seconds. If the basket packer is an old hand at it, she will know that to qualify for a picnic menu, foods must be relatively durable. They must keep their freshness and palatability for several hours after the time they are packed.

Wax paper and paper containers are a godsend in keeping things fresh until they are eaten. Finger foods are tops on a picnic—little green-topped onions, carrot sticks, drop cookies and salted almonds are perfect accessories for a picnic menu. And, of course, the ever popular sandwich is a must, as are salads, and meat loaves. If you are having a campfire, split frankfurters, spread with prepared mustard, wrap with bacon—then let each one broil his own.

SANDWICH FILLINGS

Chopped cooked meat, minced onion, celery, and mayonnaise.

Chopped corned beef and ketchup.

Peanut butter, minced bacon, and ketchup.

Mashed sardines, lemon juice, and hard-cooked egg.

Cream cheese, minced onion, and chopped carrots.

2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
3 tbsp. butter or marg melted
3 tbsp. ketchup
½ tsp. pepper
1 tbsp. salt
1 medium-sized onion, mi
1 cup soft bread crumbs
3 strips bacon

Mix meat with slightly b eggs, milk, butter, ketchup sonings, onion, and b crumbs. Shape in loaf or in greased 8x4-inch loaf Cover with strips of baco bake in moderate oven (37 F.) 45 minutes, until browned. (Ground pork veal may be substituted fo the beef.) Makes eight servings.

Smart Set Plan for Wedding

By BETTY ALDEN

BEFORE THEY VACATION at their Yarmouth Island summer home in Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Morton, Jr., of Cambridge, and family, are in the happy, hectic whirl of preparations for daughter Marion's wedding which is to take place July 19 in Cambridge.

Marion's fiance is John W. L. White of Falmouth Foreside, Me., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. White. They will be married at 4 o'clock in the First Congregational Church with a reception at the Mortons' home on Larchwood Drive.

Mrs. Byron G. Tosi

The petite dark-haired bride-to-be is a graduate of Buckingham School and member of the Junior League. Her fiance attended Dartmouth and graduated from M. I. T. He was an officer in the Naval Reserve.

Notes From a Society Editor's Cuff:

THE SHERATON Roof with cooling breezes from the Charles river is a popular spot with the younger set. Glimpsed Ann Salonstall, in a black cap sleeved dress with gay multicolored scarf knotted at the neckline, spending a pleasant evening dancing in a party with her sister deb Janet Beebe and their escorts Harry Cabot and Robert Lowell Moore, Jr. Also debutante Georgia Cabot escorted by Robert Seaver, and wearing dusty pink and black flowered silk.

A dude ranch motif with an outdoor charcoal broiler to cook the steaks to a T, and steer heads, cowboys and barbecues printed on the plastic tablecloths, are features of the Hotel Somerset Terrace which opened last evening. A smart gathering attended to benefit Boys' and Girls' Camps, Inc.

ONE OF THE GAY PARTIES was given by Mrs. Byron G. Tosi who volunteers so much of her time and ability to the work of boys' and girls' clubs. For terrace dining she accented her dark hair with a champagne silk cocktail dress and picture hat of lacey cinnamon straw. Her guests included the Cuban Consul Senor Antonio Bruzon and Senora Bruzon, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. McDonald and Pal's brother and sister Lorenzo Albre, Jr., and Marie Elena Albre. Debutante Nancy Blackall, one of the debutante committee, wore a pink and black rosebud print.

WELLESLEYITES and their neighbors in Newton, Needham and Dover are solidly behind the new Wellesley Summer Theater which will open July 15 for five weeks of professional theatrical entertainment. Jane Cowl will star in the comedy hit "The First Mrs. Fraser" opening week.

Charter members of the new venture in Alumnae Hall on the Wellesley campus include Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. L. Sherman Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Harris Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wolfer and Mr. and Mrs. James H. W. Whitcomb.

$1,000,000 Handles Thing Of Past in N. E.

By JACK CONWAY

THE RACING HONEYMOON is over. The million dollar handles at the New England and other race tracks are fading like the June roses on the trellis at my home in Scituate. The owners of race tracks are secretly in a panic as the betting has fallen off, and their stockholders have depreciated millions of dollars.

Old "John Public" has suddenly run out of fresh spinach for the hungry mutuel windows. The high cost of living and the lack of the lush war-time wages are chiefly responsible for the drastic decrease in wagering.

A track like Suffolk Downs is geared up with expenses that require a handle of about $800,000 a day. Narragansett Park also has a high overhead. A further crash in mutuel handle at Suffolk Downs this month, when it will run in opposition to Lincoln Downs in Rhode Island, will cause real alarm. It is not expected that Suffolk Downs will ever see its lows of the early days when a $300,000 handle was not uncommon. But it is a certainty that the usual million dollar handles of recent years are a thing of the past.

The dog tracks, which have only suffered slightly in the betting fall have low overhead, a larger cut of the racing spoils than the horse tracks, and could survive on a handle of $75,000 a night. During the early days of the war, a dog track at West Palm Beach, Fla., broke even when it handled only $10,000 a night. Greyhounds must eat and their owners will race them if only for the price of the hamburgers.

Narragansett Park will be fortunate to end up with a daily mutuel average of $900,000. . . . The new $3,000,000 racing plant at Lincoln, R. I., which opens Monday, is expected to cut deeply into the Suffolk Downs handle. . . . Lincoln has one of the most modern racing plants in the country. . . . B. A. Dario frankly says Lincoln intends to get all the racing dates it can until it forces Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park and Rockingham Park to accept it as an equal. . . . Dario says he would be satisfied with 45 to 50 days of racing, provided there was no conflict with another track. . . . Judge John Pappas of Suffolk Downs, under present plans, intends to war to the end against Lincoln, and next year may ask for even more racing days. . . . In the fall, Lincoln will run against Rockingham Park and it is certain to cut into the profits of the New Hampshire track.

Race track securities are off. . . . Narragansett Park, with a 1946 high of $30, is selling between $16.50 and $17.50. . . . Rockingham Park's split-up 3 to 1 stock has dropped from around $43 a share to $33 a share. . . . Monmouth Park's stock, in which a group of New Englanders made a huge financial killing a year ago when they sold at between $14 and $17 a share after getting the stock for a penny a share, has dropped to about $5 a share.

Francis at Raynham

JOHNNY FRANCIS of Jamaica Plain has been named boss of the mutuel plant at Raynham Park in line with Russ Murray's policy of using local personnel when possible. He succeeds Dave Heisman who sold his 1-5th interest in Raynham Park for about $200,000 last fall. This price set a value of $1,000,000 on the Bristol County track which will open a 50-night meeting a week from Friday.

Arthur Gaignard, Sr., has been named as the horsemen's steward for the Massachusetts Fair Circuit . . . Perry Osborne has been selected to be a steward at the Marshfield Fair . . . There will be a meeting between Charles Langille, president of the Fair Circuit, and the horsemen at Lincoln early next month to decide on purses for the Fair meetings . . . There will be six days of racing at Marshfield, Weymouth, Topsfield, Northampton, Brockton and Great Barrington.

Scouting Young Fuller

A PROMINENT MEMBER of the New York boxing fraternity has been scouting Peter Fuller, son of former Governor Fuller, who has been starring in amateur ring shows . . . I was asked if Fuller would turn pro, and bid for the heavyweight title . . . I told the interested party it was unlikely young Fuller would do so.

Tam Sheehan, president of the New England A. A. U., postcards from Los Angeles en route to Hawaii with the American amateur mitt flingers . . . Tam met Jack Kearns on the Coast, and the former manager of Jack Dempsey sent greetings to Dan Carroll, Johnny Buckley and other Boston friends.

Joe Cunningham of Milton has been recommended by Racing Commissioner Owen Gallagher as a steward at the State Fairs . . . It is likely Cunningham, who has owned and trained horses of his own, will receive several appointments . . . Eddie Welch will once more act as State Steward at the Fairs.

Paul Bowser says he will not consider moving his night trotting horse meeting from Foxboro to Suffolk Downs . . . Bowser says his Foxboro track will be ready to open in September for its 30-day meeting.

A's Out to Show Sox Fans They Rate First Division

By HERB FINNEGAN

Philadelphia's Athletics, who have finished in last place nine of the past 12 years and in seventh place two of them, will endeavor to prove to Boston fans tonight that they belong in the fourth place they're occupying at the moment.

They're here for a four-game series, single tonight, single tomorrow afternoon and a July 4 doubleheader. If they continue to play against the Sox as they've been doing this season, they'll win two or three of the games.

They're hot. There's no particular reason for their being so except for their pitching, but they've helped make this A. L. race what it is today.

They've taken five decisions, tied once in 10 games with the Sox this year, and that's as many decisions as they took all of last year when they won five, lost 17 to the Sox over the 22-game span.

This is surprising on two counts. They have Braves castoffs Eddie Joost at short and Heinie Majeski at third. Their infield, on paper, is the worst in the league. But it is playing on grass, not on paper, and to date it has played well. However, it isn't deep and as the board of strategy said: "If anything happens to Joost, we're sunk." Joost has been the sparkplug of their infield. He's happy to be back in big time after a sentence at Rochester, and pitchers give him credit for saving game after game for them.

The A's are sixth in team batting. McCosky alone is above .300 and he only by two points. All-star catcher Rosar is .252, Majeski .210, Chapman .247, Valo .267, Joost, 227, Fain .278, Suder .201.

Yet Suder hits a homer off Ferriss to win Sunday's first game, and Fain hits a four-run homer to win the nightcap.

They've got spirit, these A's, And it is surprising that they have. They were booed roundly all last year, and they were booed when they played their home opener in Philadelphia against the Sox this year. It became a Phillies' town last year and what fans did come out to see the A's came out to give them the barney.

That was a bad year—1946. The fans chased George McQuinn out of town. He was explaining before the Yanks played the Sox here Monday night.

"They got on me the very first day I reported and never let me up," said the Yanks' all-star first sacker. "They gave me a rough time. I got off to a poor start; everybody did. But, gee, they never gave us a chance. I hate to be fired from any club, but I felt relieved when Mr. Mack told me last winter he didn't want me any more. I wanted no more of Philadelphia."

Now McQuinn is having a big year with the Yanks and he went on: "I had a good night at Yankee Stadium recently, and a fan chased me down the street, tapped me on the shoulder and said: 'Tell me the truth, George, didn't you lay down on Mr. Mack last year?' That's the way it goes. I suppose they'll be saying now that Denny Galehouse laid down on Ruel in St. Louis."

The A's overcame all that. They scrapped so hard and won so many games with their "bush" infield and their .220 hitters that they won the fans over. They're higher in the standings now than the Phillies and drew 38,000 fans to a night game with the Yanks last week.

They're the marvels of the '47 season, and though they probably will finish in the second division despite their pitching, they deserve a big hand for what they have done already.

Shift Doerr Fete to Night Tilt Aug. 2; Dom Ready to Play

Bobby Doerr "Day" Aug. 2 has been changed to a "night." That's because the June 24 night game with Detroit was rained out. As it happens, Aug. 2 falls on a Saturday, so Doerr "night" probably will be the first and last Saturday night game in Fenway history. Single game the next day . . . Ted Williams spent the off day fishing in Bangor's salmon pool . . . Ferriss has lost seven games, more than he lost all last season when he was winning 25 . . . Dorish has been charged with three of the Sox five defeats at the hands of the A's . . . Remember the first series the A's played here? They won two games from the Sox, scoring four runs in one ninth inning, five runs in the ninth the following day. Third game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Tex Aulds, Dave Ferriss, Dom DiMaggio, Sam Mele, Paul Schreiber, Bob Klinger and Bill Zuber had an off-day workout at Fenway . . . DiMaggio is ready to play . . . During batting practice before the Sox-Yanks Monday night game, Yanks were hitting the ball over and against the fences. "Bet you a buck they're not hitting American League balls," said Dom DiMaggio to Joe Cronin. "That's a bet," replied the Sox manager. He called for a ball, and a Yank tossed him one. The A. L. stamp was on the ball. After the game, Dom paid off, and the Sox skipper pinned the dollar bill to the wall over his office desk . . . a psychological note.

Braves Sign Normie Roy

General Manager John J. Quinn of the Braves today announced the signing of Normie Roy, schoolboy pitching sensation, to a Hartford contract. Roy is to be optioned to the Pawtucket club of the New England League and will report Friday, July 4 to the Slaters.

Normie Roy

Roy is 18 years of age, weighs 190, stands 6 feet, bats and throws right. An only child, Normie was born in Newton, but has lived in Waltham all of his life. During the war his mother was a captain in the WAC, while his father was a staff sergeant in the Army Air forces. His mother is still in the service.

In his sophomore year at Waltham High School Normie participated in baseball, football and basketball, was chosen on the All Scholastic team as a pitcher and outfielder. Waltham won but two baseball games that year, Roy was the victor in both. After completing his sophomore year he played summer ball with the Waltham City Club.

Pitching for Waltham High the following year Normie had a 6-4 record. Among his most noteworthy feats that season was the six hitter he pitched and won against Newton High School, defeating the Jeff Jones coached club the only time it was beaten that year. He pitched a no hit, no run game against Middlesex Academy, and suffered a heartbreaking defeat when he allowed Watertown but one hit, struck out 20 and still lost the ball game. Roy was selected for the All Scholastic baseball and basketball teams that year.

He was chosen for the Hearst Diamond Series team, went to New York with that club, played left field and got two hits. Coming back to Boston he pitched and played the outfield for the Suburban All Stars against the Boston High School All Stars, hit a triple and two singles, and pitching the first three innings, fanned seven out of 10 batters.

During his senior year Normie added more laurels to his rapidly growing list of achievements. He made the All Scholastic baseball, football and basketball teams, was selected for the All Garden basketball club.

GHEZZI BLASTED

HOYLAKE GOLF COURSE, Liverpool, Eng., July 2 (INS)—Local experts today became sharply critical of Vic Ghezzi's "inordinate deliberation" in requiring two hours and 58 minutes to play a round of golf.

Ghezzi spent much time studying every hole in shooting his first round 75 in the British Open this morning.

Experts said his dallying "badly slowed up the whole program."

35-Lap Race Features Midget Car Card

GROVELAND July 2—A 35-lap race will feature the Night Before the Fourth midget auto racing program here at the Pines Speedway.

This race will be staged in addition to the usual race card as well as three special match races which will have such stars as Joe Sostilio, Oscar Ridlon and Bob Blair.

Ghezzi Irate at 75 in British Golf

HOYLAKE GOLF COURSE, Liverpool, Eng., July 2 (INS)—Laurie Ayton, a young Scotch pro who learned to play golf in the United States, and Henry Cotton, dour dean of British golf, shot 69's to share early first round leadership in the British open today.

Immediately thereafter, Frank Stranahan, the Toledo, O., amateur put himself into the ball game by shooting a 71, only two strokes above the record for the par 68 revised course.

Vic Ghezzi, big pro from Rumson, N. J., and Kansas City had his troubles and wound up with a 75. There were an amazing number of high 70's and some 80's among the early finishers.

Obviously tense, Ghezzi as early as the second hole began to display a touch of temper. At the second he bawled out his fore-caddy for failing to find his ball. At the seventh the whistling of a group of youngsters near the green contributed to his taking three putts and he promptly threw his ball on the green after holing out, and stalked to the next tee in high dudgeon.

Through the vexing hazards to be found on that four-mile stretch Ghezzi alternately played brilliant and indifferent shots. Despite the 75 he still was regarded among the strong contenders, as a score 290 generally was expected to be good enough to win for the 72 holes, or an average of a little more than 72 a round.

The veteran Cotton, who won the British open in 1934 to break American domination that had started in 1924, and came back to win again in 1937, came close to breaking the course record today, instead of merely getting a tie.

At the 18th, he putted from 18 feet. His ball lipped the cup but ran on slightly more than a foot instead of falling.

When Cotton finished most of the field of a hundred were still to be heard from, but scores scared all along the line.

Among the early finishers, only nine had shot 75 or better and 111 had slumped to go or over.

No-Hit Pitchers Likely to Open All-Star Game at Wrigley Field

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—The most anxiously awaited inter-league pitching duel since the days of Lefty Grove and Dizzy Dean appeared likely to take place next Tuesday with Cleveland's Bob Feller and Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell the probable starters in the 14th All-Star baseball game at Wrigley Field, Chicago.

With Blackwell heading a seven-man pitching staff, the National League announced an all-star lineup today which included seven outfielders, eight infielders and three catchers.

The American League team, led by an eight-man mound crew was announced last night.

Blackwell, the stringbean right-hander of the Reds, was joined by such pitching notables as Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, hero of the Cardinals' 1946 World Series victory over the American League champion Red Sox, southpaw Warren Spahn and righthander Johnny Sain, the pitching twins of the Braves; 21-year-old Ralph Branca of the Dodgers; Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, control expert of the Phils and George (Red) Munger of the Cardinals.

(It was uncertain today whether a strain which Feller suffered in a fall off the mound at Philadelphia June 13 would keep him out of the All-Star tussle. The Cleveland ace was forced out of last night's tilt in St. Louis in the second inning with severe back pains. If Feller is unable to start, the nod may go to Hal Newhouser, Detroit southpaw.)

The N. L. mound corps was selected by Manager Eddie Dyer of the Cards, who will direct the national leaguers. Dyer's first team, exclusive of the pitchers, already had been chosen by the 1,937,493 fans who voted in a poll conducted by the Chicago Tribune and associated newspapers, radio stations and magazines.

In addition to the eight players named in the fan balloting, Dyer followed poll sentiment almost to the letter in rounding out his 25-player squad for the battle with the A. L. team piloted by manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox.

The starting N. L. lineup, exclusive of pitchers, will be Johnny Mize, New York, first base; Emil Verban, Philadelphia, second base; Bob Elliott, Boston, third base; Eddie Miller Cincinnati, shortstop; Fred (Dixie) Walker, Brooklyn, right field; Enos Slaughter, St. Louis, left field; Harry Walker, Philadelphia, center field; and Walker Cooper, New York, catcher.

President Ford Frick of the N. L., in announcing Dyer's selections, pointed out that the manager would be unrestricted in handling his team with two exceptions—the eight regulars who topped the fan poll will start the game and play a minimum of three innings and no pitcher will toil longer than three innings, unless the game should go into extra innings.

The world champion Cardinals, although having only one starter in Slaughter, will have the biggest All-Star representation—five players including Stan Musial, first base; Marty Marion, shortstop; Brecheen, Munger and Slaughter. Brooklyn and Boston, currently battling for first place, have four players each. The Dodger quartet will include second baseman Ed Stanky, catcher Bruce Edwards, Walker and Branca. The Braves' foursome includes catcher Phil Masi, Elliott, Spahn and Sain.

Aiding Dyer as coaches will be Mel Ott, manager of the Giants, and Ben Chapman, Philly pilot. The batting practice pitchers will be Hank Wyse and Johnny Schmitz of the Cubs. Clyde McCullough, their battery mate, will be the practice catcher.

Along with Feller on the A. L.'s strong pitching staff will be three members of the Yankees' mound corps. They are Spud Chandler, Frank Shea and lefthander Joe Page. The great southpaw, Hal Newhouser, who may be chosen over Feller as the starting pitcher, and Paul (Dizzy) Trout will represent Detroit. Jack Kramer of St. Louis and Walter Masterson of Washington round out the eight-man staff.

The Feller-Blackwell duel will pit two no-run, no-hit pitchers against each other, the first time in 14 years that such an event will have taken place.

The Cleveland fireballer, who has yielded only one run and five hits in 11 2-3 innings while performing in four mid-summer classics, has two no-hitters to his credit. In addition he had hurled 10 one-hitters.

Blackwell, only in his sophomore year in the majors, pitched a no-hitter against the Braves last month. He followed with eight and one third innings of hitless hurling against the Dodgers, but was deprived of tying Johnny Vander Meer's record of two-successive no-hitters when Ed Stanky singled with one out in the ninth. Blackie also made the All-Star team last year in his freshman year and hurled the last two and two-third innings.

WONDERLAND REVERE

B's Happy to Leave N.Y. And Those Giants' Bats

By MIKE GILLOOLY

PHILADELPHIA, July 2—Victims of a 15-3 annihilation by the Giants who have a batting order that is in reality a rogue's gallery, the Braves were pleased to have left the blare and bluster of New York today—bound for the quiet Quaker City, a city of brotherly love and fewer homeruns hitters and a moonlight meeting (Charles "Red" Barrett pitching) with the Phils tonight.

It would require Six Little Steamshovels to dig deep enough to find a morsel of consolation in last night's mangling, the worst received by the Braves this season. They're still on the National League roof but 36,923—including Babe Ruth, who smartly went home after five innings—left the Polo Grounds laughing at the Braves and interring their chances.

Digging, almost to China, the Braves exhumed Tommy Holmes as their only item of comfort. Holmes last night was hitting as he did in 1945 when he narrowly missed the batting championship. Holmes slapped two homeruns, his first and second of the campaign; he was back on the range again.

The movie-bug right-fielder put on a power show of his own. He missed a third round-tripper by inches and had to settle for a triple. He clicked once to left for his No. 1 four-bagger of the year; then to right for No. 2. His triple rattled off the wall in right.

Holmes virtually called his shots as he waited his turn at the plate in pre-game batting practice.

"It's easy to hit in this park when you know how," insisted Holmes as he took pot-shots at the intimate right field stands. "But if you don't know how, you're a dead pigeon. That center field parking lot is a mile away."

Holmes' chip shot in the opening inning of the massacre bounced off the scoreboard in the left field corner—possibly the first homer to left that he has hit since moving into the majors. His mashie pitch to right streaked into the lower tier of the double-decked stadium, scoring Shoun ahead of him.

But while the transplanted Brooklynite was regaining his old touch, the Giants were displaying the advantage of performing in their own parlor.

The Giants came through with five round-the-loop strokes as the homer contagion spread deeper into the Mel Ott squad. To make things worse, each came with a mate-in-waiting on the basepaths.

It was No. 17 for Willard Marshall; No. 17 for Walker Cooper; No. 21 for big Johnny Mize; No. 10 for Bob Thomson and No. 3 for Buddy Kerr.

It was curtains for the Braves in a catastrophic start of this brief swing through the eastern stops.

Sain lasted only 1-3 of an inning as the Braves went through their most humiliating frame of the season so it's very possible that he'll try again Thursday or Friday in Philadelphia.

Walker Cooper, the business man of the brother battery, had personally taken over the conditioning of Mort . . . The overweight ex-Brave has been working steadily in batting practice; shagging flies; shedding the lard slowly—but surely if Walker has his way . . . The New Yorkers with more help in the box, will romp.

You can see everything in New York . . . One fan in a box seat, hatless and coatless sat through the entire downpour . . . Another threw candy kisses to the stands, celebrating every homerun that the Giants clouted . . . Mize's was the mightiest of seven—in seven innings. It shook the rain down out of the skies, drenched the field and created a weclomed-by-all curtailment . . . Two of the New York homers were off Sain, who had notions of winning his 10th, two off Shoun and one off Johnson and there's little left now in the Braves' bull-pen. Ed Wright, the index finger of his pitching hand ice-picked, has not been able to grip a ball for two days and may not be ready until after the All-Star game intermission.

Fall River Sandlot Trials July 10

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Joe Madowsky, the president of the Fall River Indians of the Class B New England League, looks for close to 150 sandlot baseball players when the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser sandlot tournament is played at Fall River Stadium on Thursday, July 10. The Hearst tourney has already been conducted in five New England cities; Lawrence, Worcester, Providence, Nashua and Lynn. The next trial is at Braves Field on Tuesday, July 8, at 10 a. m.

The Fall River tournament will be the seventh in the schedule.

A dozen ball players have already been selected to participate in the Hearst N. E. final at Fenway Park on July 29.

Eight players will be selected to represent the Fall River section.

Claude Davidson, the president of the New England League, will make the trip to Fall River to aid Pete Fox, former big league star, with the tryouts. Pete left the Red Sox outfield to manage the Braves Pawtucket farm club.

The '46 sandlotters who will compete in the New England final will be battling for the greatest prize ever offered to sandlot baseball players.

The two winners of the Fenway finals will be sent on a two week trip to the Polo Grounds, New York city, for the Hearst National final.

Portsmouth Swim Meet Opens Hearst Series

The season's opener in the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser series of New England swimming meets will be held Saturday afternoon, July 12 at the Wentworth-by-the-Sea pool, Portsmouth, N. H.

Norman E. Kitching, director of the meet, sends word that entries have been received from Clara Lamore, a national champion, and from Joe Prata, New England champion. Both Prata and Miss Lamore made their seasonal outdoor debuts last Sunday in the new Aquaglow pool at the Cape Codder Hotel, Falmouth.

Clara will defend her NEAAU 220-yard breaststroke title. Joe will defend his NEAAU 440-yard freestyle mark.

Entries for the Wentworth meet close July 5. There will be competition in six open events as well as the two championship races.

"Learn to Swim" session at Revere Beach and at the State Hospital Pool, Canton, are drawing many swimmers. Joe Baldwin, Red Cross teacher, is conducting at the State Bath House, Revere, and Johnnie Temple, ex-B. C. athlete, is the swim professor at Canton. Both teachers will continue at the present locations until July 12.

Temple and Baldwin hold beginners' classes from 10-12 in the morning and life saving classes from 2-4 in the afternoon.

Midget Racers Meet in Medford

Another all-star card of seven races has been scheduled for tonight at the new Medford Bowl, Revere Beach Parkway, Medford, bringing 25 of the leading midget auto drivers in New England and featuring such stars as Bobby Blair of Dedham, dean of Bay State drivers; popular Joe Sostillio of Natick; and Connecticut's "good-will ambassador," the speedy Buddy Tatro of Norwalk.

The program will start promptly at 7:45 p. m., weather permitting, and ample free parking space has been provided.

Nurseries Will Increase N. H. Trout

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

With new trout rearing stations under construction New Hampshire, the fishing should get better and better in coming years. At Nedurham, the Merrymeeting station is scheduled to grow between 250,000 and 350,000 at fish annually. Building is pected to be completed this summer.

Concrete footings have already been poured for one battery of nursery pools, plus another battery of pools designed for larger fish. Three more footings for the bigger batteries remain to be poured. Since each battery is composed of ten pools, a total of 50 will result.

About half the pipe required to service the station with water has arrived. As soon as the rest of this project is ready to receive it, the pipe to be laid underwater in Merrymeeting Lake will be at the site.

A new batter of ten 40-by-5 foot nursery pools has been installed at New Hampton, as well, in the area across the brook from the garage. These pools will accommodate trout on a year-'round basis, replacing an old set which could be used only during the six summer months, thus increasing the total capacity of the station by 30,000 legal fish per year.

In the lower section of the New Hampshire station, excavation has been finished for new raceways of 30 pools, 100 feet in length by five feet wide, to replace a set of old wooden ones. Legal production here should then increase complete capacity at these lower pools by 50,000 fish annually.

All work at the above station is being carried on by the N. H. Fish and Game Department's own construction crew, instead of calling in a contractor . . . Hint to the Mass. Dept. of Conservation: Bay State anglers have long been complaining about the lack of trout in these parts. Why can't more fish be raised here by building more rearing stations?

ANGLING ANGLES: From Nova Scotia comes word that tuna have been reported off the Wedgeport tide rips, at the opening to the Tusket river, famous rendezvous for the bluefins, and site of the International Tuna Fishing Tournament, Sept. 3-6. Teams of anglers from the United States, the British Empire and Cuba are already entered . . . According to the current issue of the New England Outdoor Editor, efforts are being made to have the National Wildlife Federation adopt the "One-Was-Allowed-To-

-Away Club." The Federation is shown much interest in this ub, which is an excellent conservation booster . . . Did you ow that the female cod fish s two million eggs per year!

R. I. to Cut $1,500,000 at Gansett

By DAVE WILSON

NARRAGANSETT PARK, July 2—The State of Rhode Island is expected to realize nearly $1,500,000 from the current 30-day Gansett session which comes to a close on Saturday . . . The Oran Lodge Stable's fleet juvenile Fly Away is on the ailing list and will not be a starter in Friday's Nursery Stakes . . . Fernando Fernandez, the Cuban riding sensation, has found the pickings so soft here that he sent for his brother, Antonio, who has given first call on his services to Bruce McIntire.

Mrs. Mary E. Whitney's Bullet Proof and Gustaf have arrived. Bullet Proof, pint-sized hero of the Chesapeake Stakes this spring at Havre de Grace, is pointing for the $25,000 Providence Stakes Saturday, and Gustaf, an improved sprinter, is being reserved for the $10,000 Bristol Handicap, twin feature on the same card . . . Gansett will conclude its present meeting with an average daily purse distribution of $26,483, the largest in the track's history.

Frank Frankel, Texas oil tycoon, has notified Racing Secretary Ty Shea that he is shipping his juvenile Fighting Hard to the Pawtucket oval for a crack at the Nursery Stakes . . . O. T. Dubassoff, trainer of the Lazy F Ranch, is dickering for the services of Fernandez . . . Walter Lee Taylor was thrown from his mount Shaheen at the start of yesterday's first race, but luckily escaped serious injury although he had to be removed from the track in an ambulance.

There's a move afoot to have Gansett keep open its stabling area so as to accommodate surplus horses at Suffolk and Lincoln Downs . . . Eddie Mack, the tom-tom beater for Lincoln Downs, is leaving no stones unturned in his efforts to create good will for the new track, especially with the press.

R. W. Collins' good colt First Sentry worked a mile in 1:43 3-5 yesterday morning and the son of Lone Sentry is now regarded as a definite starter in the Providence Stakes . . . S. D. Sidell's Silee, who is best remembered for having drubbed Jet Pilot as a juvenile at Suffolk Downs, is slated to be shipped from Jamaica for a try at the same event. Spencer Drayton and other officials of the TRPB were here yesterday to confer with Judge James E. Dooley.

The list of officials published in the Suffolk Downs book of stake nominees failed to include a state steward

Morrow Tops Heavies On Dilboy Post Card

Heavyweights and middleweight boxers will be featured tonight when the George Dilboy Post VFW, holds its weekly amateur boxing show at Dilboy Field, Somerville.

Heading the heavyweight division is Don Morrow of Cambridge, but he will have to be at his best to wade through the rugged field that has entered.

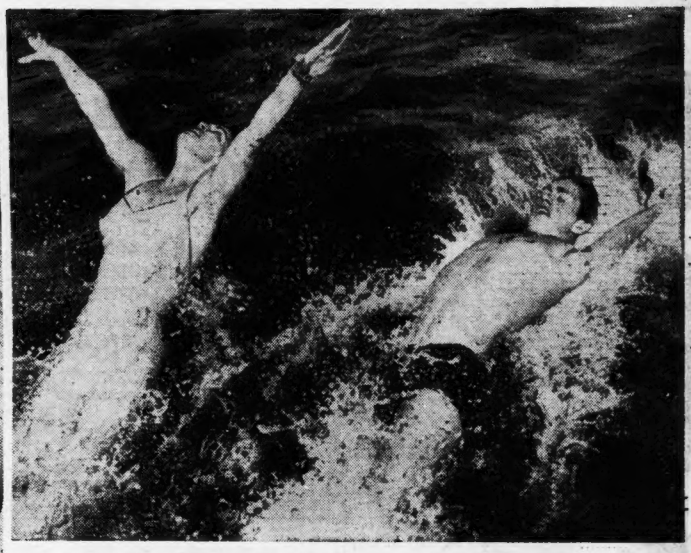
Braves Sign Waltham Normie Roy

STORY ON PAGE 33



Splashing Start—Clara Lamore and Joe Prata, champions of New England swimming, splash into the water at the start of a 100-yard backstroke exhibition given at the Aquaglow Caban Club at Falmouth. They will both compete in various swimming meets to be sponsored throughout New England this summer by the Hearst newspapers.

Sign Roy

Normie Roy, 18-year-old Waltham pitching sensation, learns from General Manager John J. Quinn how the Braves' front office keeps check, via an up-to-date chart, on their farm club players. Roy has been signed by the Braves and will be optioned to the Pawtucket club of the New England League, managed by ex-Red Sox player Pete Fox.

Rescue

A Coast Guardsman reaches out from a rescue boat patroling near Prairie du Rocher, Ill., to pluck two chickens from their precarious perch atop a rural mailbox. The chickens were left stranded when flood waters of the Mississippi swept over weakened levees and inundated hundreds of thousands of acres of fertile farmland on both sides.
